

1. How was Europe divided, and what the consequences of this division?

Europe was divided into democratic and communist regions. As a result, the Berlin Wall was built which made the division of east and western Berlin, uprisings. Uprisings occurred in Eastern Europe such as revolts against Soviet domination and how 50,000 workers confronted the Soviet army in man city, and the "Prague Spring" that introduced greater freedom of expression and limited democracy was crushed.

2. How nuclear weapons threatened the world and factors discouraged the use of them during the Cold War?

A single nuclear bomb detonated over a large city could kill millions of people. The use of tens or hundreds of nuclear bombs would disrupt the global climate, causing widespread famine.

3. How the Cold War spread globally?

The Cold War started in Europe. From 1945 to 1953, the USSR expanded its influence by creating the Eastern Bloc across states like Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Hungary. Stalin set up puppet communist governments that he could control.

4. Compare and contrast the Soviet Union and the United States in the Cold War.

The Soviet Union was a Communist country while the USA was a Capitalist country, in efforts to stop the communism from spreading, the United States President Truman offered help to any country that was under military threat, with hopes that this would prevent Communism from spreading.

5. How was the U.S. economy linked to the broader global economy during the Cold War?

The United States played a leading economic role. America had emerged untouched from the horrendous destruction of the Second World War. Other nations needed American goods and services, and foreign trade helped the United States achieve a long postwar boom. The long postwar peace among democratic nations helped to spread this boom worldwide. The World Bank, an international agency that finances world economic development, was

Communist Political Subversion, Part 1, 2 United States. Congress. House. Un-American Activities,1957      The Cold War and After Marc Trachtenberg,2012-03-12 A new way of looking at international relations from a leading expert in the field What makes for war or for a stable international system Are there general principles that should govern foreign policy In The Cold War and After Marc Trachtenberg a leading historian of international relations explores how historical work can throw light on these questions The essays in this book deal with specific problems with such matters as nuclear strategy and U S European relations But Trachtenberg s main goal is to show how in practice a certain type of scholarly work can be done He demonstrates how in studying international politics the conceptual and empirical sides of the analysis can be made to connect with each other and how historical theoretical and even policy issues can be tied together in an intellectually respectable way These essays address a wide variety of topics from theoretical and policy issues such as the question of preventive war and the problem of international order to more historical subjects for example American policy on Eastern Europe in 1945 and Franco American relations during the Nixon Pompidou period But in each case the aim is to show how a theoretical perspective can be brought to bear on the analysis of historical issues and how historical analysis can shed light on basic conceptual problems      AP U.S. History For Dummies Greg Velm,2009-01-29 Getting ready to tackle the AP U S

McDougal Littell the Americans Gerald A. Danzer,1999-07-23      A History of Our Time William H. Chafe,Harvard Sitkoff,1999 This popular and comprehensive anthology presents cogent provocative articles from differing political perspectives on major issues in post War America In addition to articles by leading historians the editors have assembled first person accounts of various issues by those who have contributed to the shaping of America s rich history including Joseph

McCarthy Martin Luther King Jr and Bill Clinton This fifth edition has been considerably revised to incorporate up to date articles on the most significant issues facing contemporary America including essays on affirmative action Generation X and the crises of post Cold War foreign policy With lively and enlightening introductions to each section and headnotes providing a context for the articles A History of Our Time helps students make sense of the past fifty years in America s sometimes tumultuous but always fascinating history

People Forced to Flee United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees,2022-02-16 People in danger have received protection in communities beyond their own from the earliest times of recorded history The causes war conflict violence persecution natural disasters and climate change are as familiar to readers of the news as to students of the past It is 70 years since nations in the wake of World War II drew up the landmark 1951 Convention relating to the Status of Refugees People Forced to Flee marks this milestone It is the latest in a long line of publications stretching back to 1993 that were previously entitled The State of the World s Refugees The book traces the historic path that led to the 1951 Convention showing how history was made by taking the centuries old ideals of safety and solutions for refugees to global practice It maps its progress during which international protection has reached a much broader group of people than initially envisaged It examines international responses to forced displacement within borders as well as beyond them and the protection principles that apply to both It reviews where they have been used with consistency and success and where they have not At times the strength and resolve of the international community seems strong yet solutions and meaningful solidarity are often elusive Taking stock today at this important anniversary is all the more crucial as the world faces increasing forced displacement Most is experienced in low and middle income countries and persists for generations People forced to flee face barriers to improving their lives contributing to the communities in which they live and realizing solutions Everywhere an effective response depends on the commitment to international cooperation set down in the 1951 Convention a vision often compromised by efforts to minimize responsibilities There is growing recognition that doing better is a global imperative Humanitarian and development action has the potential to be transformational especially when grounded in the local context People Forced to Flee examines how and where increased development investments in education health and economic inclusion are helping to improve socioeconomic opportunities both for forcibly displaced persons and their hosts In 2018 the international community reached a Global Compact on Refugees for more equitable and sustainable responses It is receiving deeper support People Forced to Flee looks at whether that is enough for what could and should help define the next 70 years
