

Chapter 25 Cold War America

The Cold War Era: 1945-1991

Essentially begins once WW2 ends. Historians say the 2 atomic bombs US dropped on Japan ushered in the Cold War. The falling apart of the Soviet Union characterized the end of the Cold War.

Major combatants: US vs Soviet Union

Goes beyond just different ideologies/economy. Coming out of WW2, these were the 2 nations being referred to as "superpowers". Most European and Asian powers had been battered by WW2.

Philosophically we do not agree with the Soviet Union. Democracy/capitalism vs communist/autocracy (command economy controlled by gov)

Superpowers tend to be extremely competitive, want to extend their powers. To do this, they want alliances with similar countries. So, during this time period we start to see in crease in large alliance groups. For example, US is part of NATO, Soviet creates Warsaw Pact.

During this 46 year span, we never go to direct war with Soviet union. But, we do go to war w/ Korea, Vietnam (to fight Soviet interests). Soviets go to war in Afghanistan.

The reason we never go to direct war w/ Soviets is bc both countries are developing lots of nuclear weapons (arms race) so it would not end well for either country. Also, there was a huge space race going on (this had a military component as well). Espionage played a huge role during Cold War, we enjoyed spying on each other. Was very tense.

"Cultural warfare" olympic games were v tense and treated extremely seriously

"Kitchen debate" was a spontaneous argument

Many accusations of being a communist in the film industry

Growing fears caused even close friends and family members to turn against each other

Origins of the Cold War

-Two remaining superpowers: US and Soviet Union

- Yalta Conference (February 1945)
 - Future of eastern Europe, division of Germany, creation of United Nations
- Potsdam Conference (July 1945)
 - Soviet-imposed governments had taken hold in eastern Europe
 - Truman pushed for democratic elections, economic revival of Germany
 - Eastern Europe was critically important to both powers, specifically Soviet Union bc they wanted Poland on their side (buffer zone instead of invasion zone)

For half a century the United States and the Soviet Union were in conflict But how and where did the Cold War begin Jamil Hasanli answers these intriguing questions in At the Dawn of the Cold War He argues that the intergenerational crisis over Iranian Azerbaijan 1945 1946 was the first event that brought the Soviet Union to a confrontation with the United States and Britain after the period of cooperation between them during World War II Based on top secret archive materials from Soviet and Azerbaijani archives as well as documents from American British and Iranian sources the book details Iranian Azerbaijan's independence movement which was backed by the USSR the Soviet struggle for oil in Iran and the American and British reactions to these events These events were the starting point of the longer historical period of unarmed conflict between the Soviets and the West that is now known as the Cold War This book is a major contribution to our understanding of the Cold War and international politics following WWII
