Resisting

War makes your citizen's unhappy. The more time you spend at war, the more likely your citizen eventually get tired of it. The most important factors in causing war are you are capturing your units in a rival's territory, enemies having troops in your territory, declaring war, and engaging in battle. Having a rival declare war on you usually decreases war weariness, perhaps because it relieves the prewar uncertainty and tension. In addition, whenever you capture an enemy city, the native population in that city remains in original nationality. Whenever you are at war with their home country, the citizens are likely to become unhappy with you.

Resistance

Whenever you capture an enemy city, some of the population in that city are likely to resist your rule; they want your occupation of their city. Resistors cannot be assigned to work the terrain. The only way to quell resistance is to station troops in a captured city. With the aid of your troops, over time the resistance will end. Your culture and type of government affects how fast resistance is tamed.

The tendency to resist is based on the nationality of the citizens in question. So, for example, if you conquer a Roman city, the Roman citizens are likely to resist. If you recapture one of your cities from the
