Communication and Collaboration Support Systems Kenichi Okada, Tohru Hoshi, Tomoo Inoue, 2005 It was approximately two decades ago that the support of communication and collaboration became an important research issue The technical stimulation for this was the spread of personal computers and computer networks whilst the social driver was the demand for the support of everyday work frequently including group work and teamwork This field of research has become known as Computer Supported Cooperative Work whilst the systems to support group work are called groupware Over the two decades research has been extensively conducted Various Web based systems have been researched some of which are aimed at the support of communication and collaboration Mobile phones have spread rapidly and communication and collaboration support systems have also been researched on this platform There are many other technologies such as virtual reality robotics multimedia and ubiquitous computing each of which provides opportunities for the research field As the research field is not dependent on the type of technology but is dependent on the needs of human activity and human beings are social animals the technical demands of supporting social activities do not diminish Technologies that potentially are useful for this purpose are being investigated whilst new technologies are invented As a result of the development of IT the research and development of communication and collaboration systems is increasingly active The scope of this publication extends from perspectives design principles guidelines and social aspects of communication and collaboration support systems to the various application systems and the platform technologies GROUP ..., 2005 Remote Relationships in a Small World Samantha Holland, 2008 How do people have relationships when they are apart or develop them when they ve never even met From MySpace and weblogs to romance and sexuality this book draws together a range of studies on remote relationships investigating the intricate intimate ways that people forge connections online The term remote refers to the technologies that facilitate forms of communication and also underlines the lack of physicality involved in these relationships developed at a distance Using empirical data these collected essays explore a wide variety of relationships examining the methodological and ethical issues that researchers face Remote Relationships in a Small World part of a new generation of online studies responds to the need for research that focuses on social relationships DIS2000 Wendy Anne Kellogg, Daniel Boyarski, 2000

Material Virtualities Jenny Sundén, 2003 What does it mean to be embodied online What are the conditions of cybersubjectivity In Material Virtualities Jenny Sundén explores the rarely acknowledged borderland between typists and textual bodies speaking and writing and physicality and imagination in online encounters Through careful ethnographic investigations of a text based virtual world called WaterMOO Sundén shows how texts bodies and machines are linked together in ways that demand a new understanding of the writing subject Drawing on contemporary feminist and queer theory she questions the opposition between disembodied high tech masculinity and embodied earth bound femininity insisting on the need for a radical materialization of cybercultural studies that discloses the virtual as itself embodied

User-centered Design of Online Learning Communities Niki Lambropoulos, 2007 This book is anchored in the concept that information technology empowers and enhances learners capabilities adopting a learning summit on using the machine for the augmentation of human intellect for productivity improvement and innovation at individual organizational societal national and global levels Provided by publisher

Interpersonal Culture on the Internet Sarah N. Gatson, Amanda Zweerink, 2004 Community is a highly contested concept and in the milieu of mass media it is even more highly fraught The book is a community formation narrative adding to our common database of emergent community practice on the Internet The book bolsters our understandings of the substantive processes involved particularly those of boundary formation spatial dimensions of communities and how communities are always both embedded and emerging entities Finally it deals with the question of how seamless and or disruptive the new technology of the Internet is vis a vis our traditional practices of community formation and maintenance We are interested in a problem with communities based in media fandoms Eventually the artist will quit making music the movie will cease to have sequels or the television show will get cancelled What happens to these communities when their basis of interest goes away Is the bond of community enough to keep them together Why do people fracture into other groups Why do some hold on to the one for all all for one mentality chosen offline or do they stick by the friends they made in the community who would not ordinarily be their type In the last couple of years of working with this community the ways in which one gauges when a community ends and when it merely morphs into some other kind of interpersonal phenomenon have been at the forefront of our research The book is ethnographic in method and deals with community concepts such as networks geography boundaries and politics
