

Laboratory Activity #1 — Student Answer Packet

Relationships and Biodiversity

A Laboratory Activity for the Living Environment

Introduction

Botana curus is a valuable plant because it produces Curol, a compound used for treating certain kinds of cancer. Curol cannot be produced in the laboratory. Botana curus grows very slowly and is on the endangered species list, so its ability to provide Curol in large quantities is limited.

Species that are more closely related to Botana curus are more likely to produce the important substance Curol. Three similar plant species that are plentiful (X, Y, and Z) may be related to Botana curus. You will work as a researcher to:

- gather structural and molecular evidence to determine which plant species is most closely related to the hypothetical species, Botana curus
- use this evidence to decide which plant species is most likely to serve as a source of the important substance Curol

Safety

- You will need to wear goggles while conducting Tests 4 and 5.
- Do not eat or drink anything in the laboratory while doing this laboratory activity.

Important Note: Record all of your data and answers on these laboratory sheets. You will need to keep them for review before the Regents Examination. Later, you will need to transfer your answers to a separate Student Answer Packet. Your teacher will use the packet in grading your work, and the school will retain it as evidence of your completion of the laboratory requirement for the Living Environment Regents Examination.

Structural Evidence for Relationships

Perform the following tests and record your observations in Table 1 on page 8 of this packet. Use a hand lens or microscope as needed.

Test 1—Structural Characteristics of Plants

- a. Do not remove the plant samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- b. Compare the structural characteristics of the plant samples. Record your observations in Table 1 (see page 8).

Test 2—Structural Characteristics of Seeds

- a. Do not remove the seed samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- b. Compare the structural characteristics of the seed samples. Record your observations in Table 1.

Filho, Amanda Lange Salvia, Rudi W. Pretorius, Luciana Londero Brandli, Evangelos Manolas, Fatima Alves, Ulisses Azeiteiro, Judy Rogers, Chris Shiel, Arminda Do Paco, 2019-04-30 This book fills an important gap in the literature and presents contributions from scientists and researchers working in the field of sustainable development who have engaged in dynamic approaches to implementing sustainability in higher education It is widely known that universities are key players in terms of the implementation and further development of sustainability with some having the potential of acting as living labs in this rapidly growing field Yet there are virtually no publications that explore the living labs concept as it relates to sustainability and in an integrated manner The aims of this book which is an outcome of the 4th World Symposium on Sustainable Development at Universities WSSD U 2018 held in Malaysia in 2018 are as follows i to document the experiences of universities from all around the world in curriculum innovation research activities and practical projects as they relate to sustainable development at the university level ii to disseminate information ideas and experiences acquired in the execution of projects including successful initiatives and good practice iii to introduce and discuss methodological approaches and projects that seek to integrate the topic of sustainable development in the curricula of universities and iv to promote the scalability of existing and future models from universities as living labs for sustainable development The papers are innovative cross cutting and many reflect practice based experiences some of which may be replicable elsewhere Also this book prepared by the Inter University Sustainable Development Research Programme IUSDRP and the World Sustainable Development Research and Transfer Centre WSD RTC reinforces the role played by universities as living labs for sustainable development
