*Term is not actually used in lab, but essentially is what they are talking about. They do discuss and have a question on "branching tree diagrams."

Key Points

1. The diversity of life on the planet has been created through the process of evolution by means of natural selection. Differences between or within species is called biodiversity.
2. Through natural selection, organisms have evolved to lessen competition, and therefore fill a wide array of niches. This biodiversity increases the stability of ecosystems.
3. Biodiversity has important benefits to mankind, including development of new food sources and medicines; as providing aesthetic beauty. Ecosystem destruction leads to the loss of genetic biodiversity and increases the chance that an ecosystem will become less stable and collapse.

Procedures

*Safety precautions for the lab include goggles in step 4 & 5 for vinegar and baking soda and paper chromatography using food coloring, vinegar, and water.

1. Seven tests are conducted to determine the relatedness of Samples X,Y, and Z to Botana curus. They are as follows:
  - a. Structural Characteristics of Plants
  - b. Structural Characteristics of Seeds
  - c. Structural Characteristics of Stems (Internal Microscopic Structures)
Examine cross sections of the stems. Look for a scattered arrangement of bundles or a circular arrangement of bundles.

O'Kane, Kimberly Cline-Brown, 2016-06-16 In this collection of laboratory investigations we have chosen to follow Darwin's lead by highlighting some of the many forms of life's biological diversity and complexity and there are many Biological evolution after all is an extremely creative process You'll be examining diversity and complexity from the level of DNA to that of species and finally to how species are assembled into communities and how these communities are studied You'll also be looking at some of the important mechanisms and natural systems that underlie maintain and change biological diversity It is not much of an exaggeration to say that life as we know it in all its myriad and beautiful forms is about variation and interaction These labs are designed to be stand alone activities that are primarily self directed You will find that your instructor will teach much less than you may be used to Think of your instructor as a facilitator or as a resource for learning the real learning is up to you Said differently the degree of learning you accomplish while conducting these investigations is almost entirely dependent on the effort you put into them inside and outside the laboratory Biodiversity: the Action Plan: Summary Report , 1994 Biodiversity Department of the Environment, 1994 Biology 130 Pearson Custom Publishing, 1997-09-01 Why Study Biology by the Sea? Karl S. history and current reasons for study by the sea this book examines key people institutions research projects organisms selected for study and competing theories and interpretations of discoveries and it considers different ways of understanding research such as through research repertoires A celebration of coastal marine research Why Study Biology by the Sea reveals why scientists have moved from the beach to the lab bench and back      Living Environment Regents Review Practice Tests Charmian Foster, William Docekal, 2008-09-01 A practice Test Booklet that contains 4 full length NYS Regents Living Environment This booklet has fully explained Answers and Reference Tables Used to prepare high school students for the New York State Regents Living Environment
