EOC Biology Michelle Rose, 2005 Processes, Mechanisms and Solutions in Coastal Wetland to Adapt to Changing Environment Qing Wang, Dongdong Shao, Yu Zhang, Qin Zhu, 2025-06-05 Coastal wetlands provide precious ecological services for us like coastal protection carbon storage flooding mitigation production and so on Mangrove saltmarsh sea grass oyster reef and coral reef are typical types of coastal wetland each type has its unique adaptive strategy to climate change through some processes and mechanisms Some of them are well known to us but most are unrecognized as they are far away from our living environment Furthermore in the context of climate change and anthropogenic influence the external disturbance is more complicated and changeable causing the responses of species and the related processes more secluded and unpredictable Therefore the multilevel processes or mechanisms in coastal wetland to adapt to climate change as well as the solutions is urgent and important to face the new challenges Coastal wetlands lie in the transition zone between lands and seas defending us from storms and floodings and providing important and valuable ecosystem services such as carbon stock and biodiversity maintenance However coastal wetlands are vulnerable and are one of the most physically disturbed ecosystems on earth because they are always in hydrodynamic conditions under the interactions among tides waves runoffs and so on Furthermore the combined impacts of climate change and human activities have caused more uncertainties and complexities on the environmental factors which imposed unparalleled impacts on the diversity distribution and ecological performance of coastal wetland ecosystem globally

Global change ecology: threats and solutions

Ming-Chih Chiu, Qinghua Cai, Jhih-Rong Liao, Kozo Watanabe, Vincent Resh, 2024-10-22 Global Change Ecology promotes the understanding of how globally important changes in the environment disrupt all aspects of ecological systems. Especially the environmental changes that are driven by human influences and natural processes e.g. climate change, urbanization, biological invasion, and pollution resulting in biodiversity loss and eco-evolutionary deleterious impacts at the scales of populations, communities, or ecosystems. Alternatively, the recognition of ecological responses can enhance their resilience and resistance to environmental disturbances in different ecological systems. For example, the implications of these environmental threats on biodiversity and ecosystems can boost the interventions of strategies and the development of new techniques. The management solutions developed aim to increase environmental sustainability and mitigate the ecological impacts on biota in the Anthropocene. By collecting multi-disciplinary efforts in the form of primary research articles or perspective reviews, we can comprehensively understand how global change influences the biota and consequently construct valuable adaptation strategies. This Research Topic will examine the effects of a variety of environmental stresses on different organisms e.g. plants, vertebrates, invertebrates, microorganisms in a range of biomes e.g. terrestrial, freshwater, and marine systems. In addition, our collection of articles will assemble studies on the ecological and evolutionary responses and influences of organisms, populations, communities, and ecosystems under experimental, modeled, or observed environmental change. These efforts can be devoted to the environmental events and the associated impacts at global and regional scales on a long-term or short-term basis. The scope of our Research Topic includes but is not limited to the following interests: Ecological responses to climate change and extreme weather; Land use change and ecological connectivity; Sustainable agriculture and biodiversity; Urbanization and ecological influences; Ecological impacts of contaminants and pollutants; Ecological changes to biological invasions; Climate change mitigations and the shifting distribution of species; Mechanisms of eco-evolutionary resilience and resistance; Environmental protection and restoration techniques and policies; Research and datasets for future assessments and modeling; Ecological monitoring through the linkages and networks on long-term or large-scale bases.
