(Chapter – 1) (The Living World)
(Class – XI)

Question 1:

Why are living organisms classified?

Answer 1:

A large variety of plants, animals, and microbes are found on earth. All these living organisms differ in size, shape, colour, habitat, and many other characteristics. As there are millions of living organisms on earth, studying each of them is impossible. Therefore, scientists have devised mechanisms to classify all living organisms. These methods of classification are based on rules and principles that allow identification, nomenclature, and finally classification of an organism.

For example, based on certain principles, once an organism is identified as an insect, it will be given a scientific name and then grouped with other similar organisms. Thus, various groups or taxon include organisms based on their similarity and differences.

Therefore, the biological classification helps in revealing the relationship between various organisms. It also helps in making study of organisms easy and organized.

Question 2:

Why are the classification systems changing every now and then?

Answer 2:

Millions of plants, animals, and microorganisms are found on earth. Many of these have been identified by the scientists while many new species are still being discovered around the world. Therefore, to classify these newly discovered species, new systems of classification have to be devised every now and then. This creates the requirement to change the existing systems of classification.

Question 3:

What different criteria would you choose to classify people that you meet often?

Answer 3:

To classify a class of forty students, let us start the classification on the basis of sexes of the students. This classification will result in the formation of two major groups- boys and girls.

Each of these two groups can be further classified on the basis of the names of the students falling in these groups.

Since it is possible that more than one student can have a particular name, these names can be further divided based on the surnames.

Since there is still some chance that more than one student can have the same surname, the final level of classification will be based on the roll numbers of each student.

Question 4:

What do we learn from identification of individuals and populations?

Answer 4:

The knowledge of characteristics of an individual or its entire population helps in the identification of similarities and dissimilarities among the individuals of same kind or between different types of organisms. It helps the scientists to classify organisms in various categories.

Question 5:

Given below is the scientific name of Mango. Identify the correctly written name.

Mangifera Indica

Answer 5:

In binomial system of nomenclature, the generic name of a species always starts with a capital letter whereas the specific name starts with a small letter. Therefore, the correct scientific name of Mango is Mangifera indica.

Study Guide and Workbook to Accompany Zimbardo and Weber's Psychology, Second Edition Peter C. Gram, Philip G. Zimbardo, 1997
Psychology Third Edition builds upon the experience and reputations of Phil Zimbardo and Ann Weber with the addition of a new co author Bob Johnson who has a wealth of teaching experience at the community college level This briefer less expensive book presents psychology in a meaningful manageable format that focuses on the key questions and core concepts of psychology Introductory psychology covers such a wide range of topics and issues that it becomes difficult for readers to see the forest for the trees To make key psychological concepts more meaningful the authors found inspiration in a classic chess study This study showed that experts did no better than novices at remembering the location of pieces on a chess board when they were placed randomly Only when the patterns represented actual game situations did they make sense and therefore become more easily memorable for the experts Clearly meaningful patterns are easier to remember and understand than random arrangements and Psychology applies this by presenting the field of psychology in meaningful patterns to enhance comprehension These concepts are then applied to readers own lives study skills and the world around them Finally Psychology integrates a cross cultural and multicultural perspective to make psychology meaningful for everyone For anyone interested in Introductory Psychology Biology Cecie Starr,1994 This streamlined book distills biology s key concepts and connects them to the lives of students with numerous timely applications including compelling new vignettes at the beginning of each chapter Once again Starr created new remarkably clear illustrations to help explain complex biological concepts As with every new edition she continues to simplify and enliven the writing without sacrificing accuracy The author has done a major revision of each chapter so that there is extensive updating and organizational changes to enhance the text s flow As the following features indicate the major thrust of the new edition is to enhance accessibility and further stimulate student interest Radiologic Science for Technologists Stewart C.
