What basic principles of operational science do most secular scientists not properly apply to historical science? Name two biblical events this problem causes most scientists to ignore. - ✓ ✓ When scientists extend uniformity into the unobservable past, some of their conclusions contradict clear statements in Scripture. They ignore written evidence of special events like the Flood and Creation.

Why did uniformitarianism require that the earth be old? - ✓ ✓ He looked at the processes happening today, saw they were slow, and thought that they have always been happening at that rate. Therefore, it should take millions of years.

Give some examples of direct scientific observation in geology. - ✓ ✓ Directly observable facts such as identifying rocks, classifying them, making mineral maps, and more.

What was uniformitarianism? Who first published this idea as a basic approach to geologic science? - ✓ ✓ The belief that earth-forming processes are natural, have always been the same, and have always happened at the same gradual rate throughout the earth's history; James Hutton

What two kinds of information does a geologist use when explaining how a rock formed in the past? - ✓ ✓ Observational facts and assumptions

(True or False) Scientists who do not believe the Bible accept the principle of uniformity. - ✓ ✓ True

How does Genesis 8:22 relate to the principle of uniformity? - ✓ ✓ Nature is regular and predictable. The Bible says that God continues to regulate His creation so that it is stable. Nature is predictable and stable.

What is the name for the viewpoint that the earth is billions of years old? - ✓ ✓ Deep-time view
