(Classic Reprint) W. Robertson Nicoll,2015-07-14 Excerpt from The Expositor Vol 22 In a scene recorded in the first two Gospels the Saviour is represented as conversing with a woman from the region of Tyre and Sidon The narrative occurs in Matthew xv 21 28 and Mark vii 24 30 In the former the woman is styled a Canaanite in the latter a Hellenis Syro ph nician by race Ph nician is at times in the LXX a rendering of the Hebrew Canaanite and the prefix Syro is used to distinguish the Syrian Phoenicians from the African In the second Gospel Syro ph nician by race represents from those regions in the Matthean text The word Canaanite occurs nowhere else in the New Testament Its sense here is probably pagan The reason of the substitution of Hellenis will appear presently In the Greek text of Matthew the Master is with His disciples in the open air Approaching the Phoenician country they are met by a woman from those parts who requests help for a daughter who is possessed Christ is silent The disciples urge that she be let go to which Christ replies that He is not sent but to the lost sheep of the House of Israel The woman renews her importunity and is told that it is not permissible to take the children s bread and cast it to the puppies She retorts that puppies are in fact allowed to eat the crumbs that fall from their master s table She is then praised for her faith and her request is granted There are several features in this narrative which occasion surprise About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Expositor, Vol. 3 (Classic Reprint) W. Robertson Nicoll, 2019-02-15 Excerpt from The Expositor Vol 3 For the word fulfilment then we might substitute as we mean rather that the realization of prophecy Thus for instance when in the first Gospel we have over and over again as was natural in a Gospel written for Jewish readers the expression that it might be fulfilled which was spoken we may very well paraphrase that for ourselves that there might be a realization of that which was spoken This will help us a little in solving the difficulty which troubles some minds when St Matthew or St Paul adopts Rabbinic modes of explanation of the older Scriptures The writer without discussing the legitimacy of the mode of interpretation is appealing to his hearers on their own grounds Here he says you can see a realization of what your own teachers have practically taught you to expect About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Expositor, Vol. 7 (Classic Reprint) William Robertson Nicoll, 2018-12-14 Excerpt from The Expositor Vol 7 Amid many editions of the Pauline letters that are appearing in rapid succession almost all of them containing good work and some quite remarkable work I may be pardoned for devoting a special measure of attention to the elaborate edition of the two Epistles to the Thessalonians by Dr George Milligan who shows himself heir to the taste the industry and the love for learning of his distinguished father I had the pleasure of counting him for a short time among my earliest pupils when I first entered on the work of University lecturing and for this reason I began to read his book with a special interest which was increased in perusal by its merits Dr Milligan's edition marks in several important respects a distinct progress in method beyond the customary style of commentary on the Pauline Epistles It not merely contains a learned and carefully pondered treatment of all the topics and subjects of discussion arising out of the Epistle which would form the staple of a commentary of the usual kind but in addition it essays the difficult task of placing before the student a summary of all that recent research in certain other directions has contributed to the illustration of the Epistles About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works The Family Expositor; Or, a Paraphrase and Version of the New Testament; with Critical Notes, and a Practical Improvement of Each Section ...
