Followership Development and Enactment among the Acholi of Uganda David Wesley Ofumbi, 2019-07-25 The industrial era organizations used dualistic leadership theory which regarded followers as objects of leaders influence to socialize them into passive followership irrespective of context and outcome Consequently organizations focused on leadership and condemned active followership as a toxic behavior that sabotages organizational processes and outcomes However the emergence of relational leadership theory in the information era flattened organizational structure which created a greater need for collaboration within and across sectors In this new era organizations cannot survive without responsible individuals who could be productive as both leaders and followers As a result organizations are experiencing high demand for active followership throughout organizational ranks roles and relationships Nonetheless since followership studies are still in their infancy there is hardly any information on how followers develop and enact active followership Whereas some studies established followership identity role and behaviors and identified factors influencing their development none has explored how they do so This study offers a theory of followership development and enactment anchored in a seamless paradigm that can be used to expand leadership theory beyond dualistic tendencies that absolutized the differences among leadership variables despite their seamlessness Therefore it enhances organizational desire and capacity to develop and engage star followers effectively

Christian Matthew Bowman, 2018-04-02 Religious diversity is a defining feature of the United States But more remarkable than the range of faiths is the diversity of political visions embedded in them Matthew Bowman delves into the ongoing struggle over the potent word Christian not merely to settle theological disputes but to discover its centrality to American politics

Christian Leadership Manual Albert

Garner,1972 The Church in an HIV + World Daniela Gennrich,2004 This comprehensive handbook aims to challenge Christians to look at HIV AIDS in a new light and consider fresh ways of responding to this humanitarian and theological crisis God is calling us to do church differently Although it is aimed squarely at Christian Churches its applicability goes well beyond that This is true especially for the appendices which offer practical guidelines that will help anyone to meet the real lived needs of people living with HIV or AIDS It challenges us how can we live out what God requires of us in South Africa today where nearly 5 million people are living with HIV AIDS and more than 600 die every day
