Information Quality and Management Accounting Stephan Leitner, 2013-01-24 One of the main aims of management accounting is to provide managers with accurate information in order to provide a good basis for decision making There is evidence that the information provided by management accounting systems MAS is distorted and the occurrence of biases in accounting information is widely accepted among users of MAS At the same time the intensity and the frequency of use of MAS increase too Consequently the quality of the provided information is critical The focus of this simulation study is twofold On the one hand the impact of the sophistication of traditional costing systems on error propagation in the case of a set of input biases is investigated On the other hand the impact of single and multiple input biases on the quality of the information provided by traditional costing systems is focused In order to investigate the research questions a simulation approach is applied Prentice-Hall Accounting Faculty Directory ,1995 Cost Accounting Michael Maher,1997 Introduction to Management Accounting Charles T. Horngren,2001-08 Offering a relevant real world decision making approach to management accounting this text develops a solid understanding of costs and cost behaviour and the use of cost information for planning and control decisions not just inventory valuation Student Solutions Manual Charles T. Horngren,George Foster,Srikant M. Datar,Howard D. Teall,1999-10-22 Principles of Efficient Information Management August-Wilhelm Scheer,2012-12-06 The first edition of this book appeared in the Federal Republic of Germany in 1984 and in English translation as Computer A Challenge for Business Administration in 1985 This book which is a translation of the fourth German edition has been comprehensively revised As a result both the character and the expected audience of the book have changed which is reflected in the alteration to the title This book addresses itself to issues arising from the research areas of both information systems and computer science Computer science departments are primarily concerned with the development of EDP techniques and the business economics aspects remain largely Ignored The emphasis in information systems departments is placed on the investigation of the business economic impact of the use of already existing systems This strongly empirical approach is accompanied by a disinclination to consider actual system design this is considered the responsibility of the software houses This partitioning however leaves untapped the considerable potential which could be realized by an interdisciplinary approach from computer science and business economics An isolated approach neglects both the effects that business economics can have on the implementation of EDP techniques and the structural impact of EDP on business economics
