Flynn, Dalia Judovitz, National Endowment for the Humanities Professor of French Dalia Judovitz, 1993-01-01 Dialectic and narrative reflect the respective inclinations of philosophy and literature as disciplines that fix one another in a Sartrean gaze admixing envy with suspicion Ever since Plato and Aristotle distinguished scientific knowledge episteme from opinion doxa and valued demonstration through formal final causes over emplotment mythos the palm has been awarded to dialectic as the proper instrument of rational discourse the arbiter of coherence consistency and ultimately of truth The matter becomes more complicated when we recognize the various uses of the term dialectic in the tradition some of which complement and even overlap the narrative domain By confronting these concepts with one another either de facto or ex professo the following essays not only raise anew the ancient questions of the identities of philosophy and literature but do so in the context of recent postmodern challenges to their relative autonomy Proceedings and
