Lloyd, 2005 The B 47 was the United States Air Force's first strategic jet bomber. When the U S Army Air Force issued a requirement for a jet bomber in 1944 four manufacturers presented proposals. It was Boeing's design for the B 47 that won for a number of reasons but especially because it was capable of carrying the outsized nuclear weapons of the day. The B 47 became the cornerstone of America's nuclear deterrent force until the B 52 came into the inventory. At the peak of its career in 1956 1 367 B 47s were in Strategic Air Command SAC inventory of 1 650 bombers. The B 47 proved to be as fast as many of the jet fighters of the day and its pylons. Most large transport airplanes today have this configuration. The design was extremely successful and was later adapted to the B 52 bomber and the KC 135 tanker which later formed the basis for the Boeing 707. In fact almost all jet powered commercial airliners today can trace their design ancestry back to the B 47. This book covers the B 47's entire history in deep technical detail with more than 400 photographs many never before seen. In addition this work provides a comprehensive overview of B 47. *California. Court of Appeal (1st Appellate District).
