Cxc Social Studies Past Paper 2011:

The Palgrave Handbook of Conflict and History Education in the Post-Cold War Era Luigi Cajani, Simone Lässig, Maria Repoussi, 2019-06-28 This Handbook provides a systematic and analytical approach to the various dimensions of international ethnic and domestic conflict over the uses of national history in education since the end of the Cold War. With an upsurge in political social and cultural upheaval particularly since the fall of state socialism in Europe, the importance of history textbooks and curricula as tools for influencing the outlooks of entire generations is thrown into sharp relief. Using case studies from 58 countries, this book explores how history education has had the potential to shape political allegiances and collective identities. The contributors highlight the key issues over which conflict has emerged, including the legacies of socialism and communism, war, dictatorships, and genocide, issues which frequently point to tensions between adhering to and challenging the idea of a cohesive national identity and historical narrative. Global in scope, the Handbook will appeal to a diverse academic audience including historians, political scientists, educationists, psychologists, sociologists, and scholars working in the field of cultural and media studies. From Principles to Practice in Education for Intercultural Citizenship Michael Byram, Irina Golubeva, Han Hui, Manuela Wagner, 2016-11-01 The contributors to this volume have collaborated to present their work on introducing competences in intercultural communication and citizenship into foreign language education. The book examines how learners and teachers think about citizenship and interculturality and shows how teachers and researchers from primary to university education can work together across continents to develop new curricula and pedagogy. This involves the creation of a new theory of intercultural citizenship and a procedure for implementation. The book is written by teacher-researchers who aim to help other teachers and concludes with reflections on the lessons they have learnt, which will help others to implement these ideas in their own practice. The book is essential reading for foreign language educators and researchers, students in pre-service teacher training, and teachers in in-service training. Mapping the Field Jane Martin, Marion Bowl, Gemma Banks, 2023-10-04 From its origins in the University of Birmingham's then Institute of Education in 1948, Educational Review has emerged as a leading international journal for generic educational research. Seventy-five years on, Mapping the Field presents a detailed account of education theory and research policy and practice through the lens of key articles published in the journal over this timespan. Volume II opens with Part I, a collection of articles examining teachers' job dissatisfaction and stress and the gendered composition of the teaching workforce. Articles in Part II trace a shift in academic focus from schools seen as families to communities to the parent-school relationship. The concepts of inclusion and equality and strategies for their fulfilment in education are interrogated in Part III. The volume concludes with Part IV, in which diverse identities in the education field are represented. Curated and introduced by the editors, the articles included in both volumes of Mapping the Field represent a careful selection from the work of scholars whose ideas have been and continue to be influential in the field of education.
