Case 580m 2002:

California Builder & Engineer, 2002 Manual of Forensic Taphonomy James T. Pokines, Ericka N. L'Abbe, Steven A. Symes, 2021-12-30 The main goals in any forensic skeletal analysis are to answer who is the person represented individualization how that person died trauma pathology and when that person died the postmortem interval or PMI The analyses necessary to generate the biological profile include the determination of human nonhuman or nonosseous origin the minimum number of individuals represented age at death sex stature ancestry perimortem trauma antemortem trauma osseous pathology odontology and taphonomic effects the postmortem modifications to a set of remains The Manual of Forensic Taphonomy Second Edition covers the fundamental principles of these postmortem changes encountered during case analysis Taphonomic processes can be highly destructive and subtract information from bones regarding their utility in determining other aspects of the biological profile but they also can add information regarding the entire postmortem history of the remains and the relative timing of those effects The taphonomic analyses outlined provide guidance on how to separate natural agencies from human caused trauma These analyses are also performed in conjunction with the field processing of recovery scenes and the interpretation of the site formation and their postdepositional history The individual chapters categorize these alterations to skeletal remains illustrate and explain their significance and demonstrate differential diagnosis among them Such observations may then be combined into higher order patterns to aid forensic investigators in determining what happened to those remains in the interval from death to analysis including the environments in which the remains were deposited including buried terrestrial surface marine freshwater or cultural contexts Features Provides nearly 300 full color illustrations of both common and rare taphonomic effects to bones derived from actual forensic cases Presents new research including experimentation on recovery rates during surface search timing of marine alterations trophy skulls taphonomic laboratory and field methods laws regarding the relative timing of taphonomic effects reptile taphonomy human decomposition and microscopic alterations by invertebrates to bones Explains and illustrates common taphonomic effects and clarifies standard terminology for uniformity and usage within in the field While the book is primarily focused upon large vertebrate and specifically human skeletal remains it effectively synthesizes data from human ethological geological paleontological paleoanthropological archaeological artifactual and zooarchaeological studies Since these taphonomic processes affect other vertebrates in similar manners The Manual of Forensic Taphonomy Second Edition will be invaluable to a broad set of forensic and investigative disciplines Competition Problems in Liberalized Telecommunications Milena Stoyanova, 2008-01-01 This innovative study of the role of competition law in the telecommunications industry starts from a classic perspective While in principle regulation benefits social welfare and efficient allocation of resources past regulatory experience shows that regulation can be flawed and lead to welfare harm rather than good In the telecommunications industry specifically inappropriately designed sector specific remedies and regulatory delays in the introduction of new telecommunications services can hold up the development of the market towards effective competition and could incur considerable welfare losses In addition conventional antitrust analysis still lags behind the dynamic nature of the electronic communications markets Milena Stoyanova sets out to establish a new understanding of the role of sector specific regulation and competition law enforcement in the electronic communications sector addressing such questions as the following and Why a new regulatory framework and Are sectoral regulation and competition law enforcement mutually exclusive or complementary and Why should electronic communications markets be regulated to conform to competition law principles and What does competition law add to sector specific regulation and What is the relationship or proportion between regulation and competition law enforcement An overview of the telecommunications liberalization process initiated at European Community level reveals such problems as a divergent approach of national regulatory authorities in the application of one and the same norms inability of competition authorities to rightly assess the technicalities underlying a competition problem and difficulty in carrying out a periodical oversight of compliance with the competition law remedies The author discusses the legal basis and rationale for the application of the essential facility doctrine to the electronic communications sector and argues for new regulatory responses to the emergence of collective dominant firms in an oligopolistic setting and to the potential of multifirm conduct to restrict competition through price squeezing and other tactics The book concludes with a specific case study on the harmonisation of recent Bulgarian legislation with the European Community sector specific and competition law regimes and propos the electronic communications sector Effective competition in the electronic communications market is crucial for securing the dynamic role of the entire information and communications technologies sector of which electronic communications form the largest segment The sound and well informed recommendations in this book ably address common and persistent problems making Competition Problems in Liberalized Telecommunications a forward looking mainstay for practitioners and other professionals involved in all aspects of the field

Hazards and the Built Environment Lee Bosher, 2008-05-06 Presenting a range of multi hazard adaptation issues this book illustrates that non structural as well as structural adaptations need to be considered in order to reduce the threat and impact of disasters in the built environment

Emotion-Oriented Systems Paolo Petta, Catherine Pelachaud, Roddy Cowie, 2011-02-04 Emotion pervades human life in general and human communication in particular and this sets information technology a challenge Traditionally IT has focused on allowing people to accomplish practical tasks efficiently setting emotion to one side That was acceptable when technology was a small part of life but as technology and life become increasingly interwoven we can no longer ask people to suspend their emotional nature and habits when they interact with technology The European Commission funded a series of related research projects on emotion and computing culminating in the HUMAINE project which brought together leading academic researchers from the many related disciplines This book grew out of that project and its chapters are arranged according to its working areas theories and models signals to signs data and databases emotion in interaction emotion in cognition and action persuasion and communication usability and ethics and good practice The fundamental aim of the book is to offer researchers an overview of the related areas sufficient for them to do credible work on affective or emotion oriented computing The book serves as an academically sound introduction to the range of disciplines involved technical empirical and conceptual and will be of value to researchers in the areas of artificial intelligence psychology cognition and user machine interaction Records of the Australian Museum Australian Museum,2005 Treatise on Geophysics ,2015-04-17 Treatise on Geophysics Second Edition is a comprehensive and in depth study of the physics of the Earth beyond what any geophysics text has provided previously Thoroughly revised and updated it provides fundamental and state of the art discussion of all aspects of geophysics A highlight of the second edition is a new volume on Near Surface Geophysics that discusses the role of geophysics in the exploitation and conservation of natural resources and the assessment of degradation of natural systems by pollution Additional features include new material in the Planets and Moon Mantle Dynamics Core Dynamics Crustal and Lithosphere Dynamics Evolution of the Earth and Geodesy volumes New material is also presented on the uses of Earth gravity measurements This title is essential for professionals researchers professors and advanced undergraduate and graduate students in the fields of Geophysics and Earth system science Comprehensive and detailed coverage of all aspects of geophysics Fundamental and state of the art discussions of all research topics Integration of topics into a coherent whole
