Focus on Earth Science, 2001 Earth Science, 2001 Governance and Sustainability David Crowther, Shahla Seifi, 2020-08-19 This book explores the concepts of sustainability and governance in relation to the governance of corporations hence the ubiquity of the term corporate governance and other bodies It examines how these concepts are regularly used by politicians and by the media The two concepts are however largely treated as being separate and discrete and given equal coverage The argument in this book is that the two concepts are inter related and that good governance is a prerequisite for sustainability The focus of the book therefore is different from most as it seeks to integrate these two important issues The approach used in this book is based on the tradition of the Social Responsibility Research Network a worldwide body of scholars that over its 20 year history has sought to broaden the discourse and to treat all research as inter related and business relevant The book examines diverse aspects of the changes to corporate and institutional behaviour that have recently manifested by focusing on these two aspects of sustainable development Thus the authors explore engagement and partnership between organisations in order to consider the extent to which the focus has changed so much that we need to think about new approaches to our understanding of sustainability and differing effects in practice The international mix of authors makes this an original contribution sharing some of the best ideas from around the world Contamination of Water Arif Ahamad, Sharf Elahi Siddiqui, Pardeep Singh, 2021-08-06 Water containing significant amounts of inorganic and organic contaminants can have serious environmental consequences and serious health implications when ingested Contamination of Water Health Risk Assessment and Treatment Strategies takes an interconnected look at the various pollutants the source of contamination the effects of contamination on aquatic ecosystems and human health and what the potential mitigation strategies are This book is organized into three sections The first section examines the sources of potential contamination This includes considering the current scenario of heavy metal and pesticide contamination in water as well as the regions impacted due to industrialization mining or urbanization The second section goes on to discuss water contamination and health risks caused by toxic elements radiological contaminants microplastics and nanoparticles and pharmaceutical and

Curricular Program Implementation in the Context of Randomized Field Trials Gloria Isabel Miller, 2011 Abstract curricular program implementation in the context of randomized field trials Gloria Isabel Miller This study examined three cases of commercially available curricular program implementations to determine if a unified approach to measuring the level of implementation was possible proof of concept Further the study investigated whether the level of curriculum and implementation plan specificity made a difference to the strength of implementation achieved in classrooms and described the implementation evolution in different contexts The study sample consists of a total of 163 teachers in eight school districts across the United States In each case teachers were randomly assigned to using the curricular innovation or their currently used materials and processes The three cases HS Math NewScience and MathIntervention were purposely chosen to represent three different points of curricular and implementation specificity and two different subject areas math and science Each case features a commercially available program that also had opportunities for teachers to use electronic technology to enhance their learning or to engage their students The cases represent differing student grade levels The cases are different enough to provide a range that exercises the measurement techniques introduced in this study so results can begin to generalize across curricular programs and grades. However, the cases are similar enough in research design instrumentation and data collection methods to make them comparable. A key contribution of this investigation is the creation of a framework to measure the level of implementation, the extent to which the teacher and students display the actions, behaviors, and interactions expected by using the innovation. The unified conceptual framework arrived at by using an Activity Theory perspective together with the analytical methods employed provide a way to view the rich, complex interaction of implementation as a system with the larger system of the school organization. Data from the analysis revealed that variations in the level of implementation were no different regardless of the level of specificity. A strong finding of this work is that implementation evolves slowly even when the curricular program is scripted and coaching support is provided to teachers. The paper concludes with implications for policy and future research.
