Language Planning and Social Change Robert L. Cooper, 1989 This book describes the ways in which politicians church leaders generals leaders of national movements and others try to influence our use of language Professor Cooper argues that language planning is never attempted for its own sake Rather it is carried out for the attainment of nonlinguistic ends such as national integration political control economic development the pacification of minority groups and mass mobilization Many examples are discussed including the revival of Hebrew as a spoken language feminist campaigns to eliminate sexist bias in language adult literacy campaigns the plain language movement efforts to distinguish American from British spelling the American bilingual education movement the creation of writing systems for unwritten languages and campaigns to rid languages of foreign terms Language Planning and Social Change is the first book to define the field of language planning and relate it to other aspects of social planning and to social change The book is accessible and presupposes no special background in linguistics sociology or political science It will appeal to applied linguists and to those sociologists economists and political scientists with an interest in language

Teaching to Change the World Jeannie Oakes, Martin Lipton, Lauren Anderson, Jamy Stillman, 2015-11-17 This is an up to the moment engaging multicultural introduction to education and teaching and the challenges and opportunities they present Together the four authors bring a rich blend of theory and practical application to this groundbreaking text Jeannie Oakes is a leading education researcher and former director of the UCLA teacher education program Martin Lipton is an education writer and consultant and has taught in public schools for 31 years Lauren Anderson and Jamy Stillman are former public school teachers now working as teacher educators This unique comprehensive foundational text considers the values and politics that pervade the U S education system explains the roots of conventional thinking about schooling and teaching asks critical questions about how issues of power and privilege have shaped and continue to shape educational opportunity and presents powerful examples of real teachers working for equity and justice Taking the position that a hopeful democratic future depends on ensuring that all students learn the text pays particular attention to inequalities associated with race social class language gender and other social categories and explores teachers role in addressing them The text provides a research based and practical treatment of essential topics and it situates those topics in relation to democratic values issues of diversity and cognitive sociocultural and constructivist perspectives on learning The text shows how knowledge of education foundations and history can help teachers understand the organization of today s schools the content of contemporary curriculum and the methods of modern teaching It likewise shows how teachers can use such knowledge when thinking about and responding to headline issues like charter schools vouchers standards testing and bilingual education to name just a few Central to this text is a belief that schools can and must be places of extraordinary educational quality and institutions in the service of social justice Thus the authors address head on tensions between principles of democratic schooling and competition for always scarce high quality opportunities Woven through the text are the voices of a diverse group of teachers who share their analyses and personal anecdotes concerning what teaching to change the world means and involves Click Here for Book Website Pedagogical Features Digging Deeper sections referenced at the end of each chapter and featured online include supplementary readings and resources from scholars and practitioners who are addressing issues raised in the text Instructor s Manual offers insights about how to teach course content in ways that are consistent with cognitive and sociocultural learning theories culturally diverse pedagogy and authentic assessment New to this Edition Writing and Reading Mysteries Helen Hoffner,2006-03-31 The book contains lesson plans worksheets and book lists which can be used to enhance literacy instruction All the lessons are linked to McREL standards and benchmarks Ethnicity and Sociopolitical Change in Africa and Other Developing Countries Santosh C. Saha,2008-01-01 This edited book on constructive ethnicity argues that the modernizing state system in developing countries unduly denies a legitimate place to the linguistic and ethnic groups who despite habitual attachment to ethnic groups might meaningfully help the slow process of state building Here ethnicity is characterized as positive and as such moral and pragmatic Despite ethnicity s natural inclination to polarization a national community can be reconstructed as is exemplified by recent events in Rwanda Cyprus India Palestine and China The Natural Investigator Michael Lee Bentley,Christine Ebert,Edward S.
