Action and Character According to Aristotle Kevin L. Flannery, 2013-09-24 Aristotle according to the author depicts the way in which human acts of various sorts and in various combinations determine the logical structure of moral character Some moral characters or character types manage to incorporate a high degree of practical consistency others incorporate less without forfeiting their basic orientation toward the good Still others approach utter inconsistency or moral deprivation although even these insofar as they are responsible for their actions retain a core element of rationality in their souls According to Aristotle moral character depends ultimately on the structure of individual acts and on how they fit together into a whole that is consistent or not consistent with justice and friendship From publisher's description

Hesed and Tzedakah Walter Jacob, Walter Homolka, 2006-07-18 From a Jewish perspective divine action in this world revolves around two poles Hesed and Tzedakah There is one fundamental difference between them Hesed describes those actions of God that arise not from obligation but instead are spurred by pure love for humankind by grace and mercy Tzedakah by contrast touches on God's righteous interaction within his covenant as well as justice observed by man seeking harmony with God's will Each of the terms applies to both God and man Hesed and Tzedakah emanate from God and eventually should transform a person into a Hasid and a Tzaddik The authors of this volume parse the subtlety of different meanings behind this pair of terms from Bible to modernity
