

1.1 Street law and law in general

Outcomes

After completion of this section learners will be able to:

1. Explain the purpose and meaning of Street law and law in general

Assessment criteria

1. An explanation of the purpose and meaning of Street law and law is given.
2. The relationship between law and everyday life is identified.
3. A set of facts is examined and a decision is taken on whether or not the accused were guilty of murder.
4. The relationship between law and morality is identified.

1.1.1 What is Street law?

contact with the law

Street law tells people about laws that affect them in their everyday life "on the street". For example, every time a person buys something, rents a house, gets married or divorced, or is accused of a crime he or she comes into contact with the law. Street law will help you understand how the law works and how it can protect you. It also explains what the law expects you to do in certain cases. It tells you about the different legal problems you should watch for and how you can solve them.

getting help to take action

Most people think that only the rich can win by using the law, and that it works against the poor. The law is confusing and it seems difficult to get help from lawyers without having money. Many people do not believe that poor people renting broken down houses can get a court to order the owner to fix them. They do not think that people who buy cars that do not work properly can force the garages which sold them the cars to make repairs or refund their money. Women who are beaten by their husbands probably do not know that they can use the law to prevent their husbands from assaulting them. Others probably do not believe that people assaulted by the police can get compensation for their injuries. It is important for people renting houses (called tenants) or the buyers of motor cars (called consumers), or the women beaten by their husbands, or the people injured by the police, to know about their legal rights and where they can get help to take action.

practical advice

Apart from telling you generally about problems in criminal law, consumer law, employment law, social and economic rights and family law, the Street Law Manual will also give you advice you can use in practical situations: What to do when you are arrested. Where to get a lawyer. How to get your money back when a shop sells you something that does not work. What to do if you are unfairly dismissed from your job. How old or sick people can get a pension. How to buy or rent a house. What parents and children are expected to do for each other.

Problem 1: The case of the silent radio

"as good as new"

Mrs Khumalo buys a second-hand radio from Ghetto Blasters Limited after the salesman had tested it for her. Her friend goes with her to the shop and hears the salesman tell her that it "works well" and is "as good as new". Two days later the radio stops working and Mrs Khumalo takes it back to the shop.
