Galileo

- Believed that truth could always be demonstrated
- Popular lecturer
 - His lectures mainly were encompassing arithmetic, geometry, astronomy, physics, and the arts of military fortification and engineering

- The four planets orbiting Jupiter were "the matter most important to his work"
 - They had never been seen before
 - Galileo thought they were visible fixed stars, but the next day that he looked at them they had moved
- Also used the telescope to observe the changing phases of Venus
- Dialogue Concerning the Two Chief World Systems
 - He put the objections of his opponents in the mouth of his tradition-bound character Simplicius
- On the Tides: A manuscript that argues that the movements of the seas could be explained only if the
