Community Guide Uganda New Vision:

Pathways to Judicial Power in Transitional States Rachel Ellett, 2013-08-21 This book examines the complex relationship that exists between the construction of judicial power and the institutional characteristics of the courts and their regime setting. It examines the intriguing connection between the construction of judicial power on the one hand and the institutional characteristics of the courts and regime setting on the other. The book asks whether courts are rendered powerful by virtue of their institutional characteristics or by a supportive perhaps acquiescent regime setting. By analyzing the historical pathways of courts in Uganda, Tanzania and Malawi, this book argues that the emergence of judicial power since the colonial period, though fraught with many challenges, presents a unique opportunity for consolidating democracy. The book examines in detail the significant political decisions of the upper level courts in Uganda, Tanzania and Malawi from the colonial period to the present day, analyzing them in relation to changes in the political environment over time. Analysis of these decisions is also supplemented by in-depth interviews with judges, lawyers and other important stakeholders in the judicial processes. This book demonstrates that even in the most challenging regime environments, effective institutions and determined individuals can push back against interference and issue politically powerful independent decisions, but the way in which judiciaries respond to this regime pressure varies enormously across countries and regions. Regional Economic

Communities and Peacebuilding in Africa Victor Adetula, Redie Bereketeab, Cyril Obi, 2020-12-30 This book outlines challenges to the effective operation of regional economic communities (RECs) with regards to peacebuilding in Africa. Critically examining these issues from an interdisciplinary perspective with a focus on comparative analysis of the status, role and performances of the Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS) and Intergovernmental Authority on Development (IGAD), it examines particular constraints to their effective participation in regional initiatives. Focussing on inadequate technical capabilities, the complicity of state and non-state actors in conflicts within a region, the domestic politics of member states, it additionally addresses related theories and practices of peacekeeping, security, development and the peacebuilding nexus. It also engages provisioning regionalism and regional peacekeeping interventions, the legal and institutional framework of RECs and civil society and peacebuilding. Fundamentally, the book asks how effective the alliances and partnerships are in promoting regional peace and security and how much they are compromised by the intervention of external powers and actors, exploring new ideas and actions that may strengthen capacities to address the peacebuilding challenges on the continent effectively. This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of African politics and studies, peace and security studies, regionalism studies, policy practitioners in the field of African peacebuilding and more broadly to international relations. Global Society in Transition: An International Politics Reader Daniel N. Nelson, Laura Neack, 2002-05-13

International Politics A Journal of Transnational Issues and Global Problems has since 1997 published an extraordinary array of path breaking analyses about the world's political metamorphosis. Featuring scholarship that transcends boundaries of states and disciplines, International Politics editors and contributors have joined to assemble from the journal's last few volumes a far reaching portrait of new actors, identities, norms and institutions that populate a stage once confined to states, power and national interests. Further interventions to build states, make or keep the peace, impose sanctions or save currencies are examined, as are the institutional enlargements at the forefront of policy in Europe. This book offers a wealth of policy relevant scholarship about a world in making, not yet detached from Cold War or even Westphalian roots but certainly in process towards a qualitatively different global system. All published after rigorous peer review, chapters in Global Society in Transition will provide comparative politics, international relations and world affairs courses at undergraduate and graduate level with instant access to the best of new research and innovative thinking in these fields.

Insecurities of Expulsion Anneeth Kaur Hundle, 2025-05-02 In 1972 Ugandan president Idi Amin expelled close to 80,000 South Asians of Ugandan heritage from the country by dictatorial decree. In Insecurities of Expulsion, Anneeth Kaur Hundle revisits this weighty historical event, arguing that it is neither an exceptional nor a parochial event, neither a result of primordial Afro-South Asian racial conflict nor an opening into a redemptive search for Afro-South Asian interracial solidarities. Hundle explores the aftermaths and continuous nature of the expulsion event, examining its effects and affects, the images, representations and differentiated experiences and memories of the event, and the tense and ambivalent practices of citizenship, sovereignty and governance that have emerged in the decades following the expulsion. She examines Afro-Asian entanglements in what she describes as transcontinental Uganda through the lenses of race, ethnicity, class, caste, religion, gender and sexuality. Throughout, Hundle argues for stronger attention to knowledge production on global Afro-South Asian connections and the continued dynamics of community, citizenship and identity on the African Continent as central to envisioning Black African self-determinism, racial reconciliation and interracial pluralisms during shifting imperial, postcolonial, nationalist and geopolitical times.

Uganda Confidential, 2001 EQUITY IN COVID-19 Anika Altaf, Dzodzi Tsikata, Gertrude Dzifa Torvikey, Marleen Dekker, 2024-09-25 This Open Access edited volume presents twelve African case studies that systematically reconstruct, document and analyse how national governments and other stakeholders took equity into account in their initial policy responses to the COVID 19 pandemic. At the onset of the pandemic many African governments acted quickly to suppress the virus through various public health measures including lockdowns mobilizing healthcare resources and designing responses to support the economy and the population. There were however significant variations in the severity and type of measures taken as well as their accessibility and impacts. Equity was not a given and therefore important questions have been raised about who benefitted and who were left unprotected from the interventions particularly those designed to protect income and basic services. The book based on a variety of empirical data and disciplinary perspectives of research teams from across the continent examines the inclusivity of mitigation and policy responses. It situates these findings on short term interventions and impact in debates about the longer term implications of the COVID 19 pandemic on the development of the African continent and proposes new directions for policy research and practice in responses and interventions during crises.
