Industrial Revolution Begins in Britain (pages 717–718)

How did the Industrial Revolution begin?

The Industrial Revolution was the great increase in production that began in England during the 18th century. Before the Industrial Revolution, people made most goods by hand. By the middle of the 1700s, more and more goods were made by machines.

The Industrial Revolution began with an agricultural revolution. In the early 1700s, large landowners in Britain bought much of the land that had been owned by poorer farmers. The landowners collected these lands into large fields closed-in by fences or hedges. These fields were called enclosures. Many of the poor farmers who lost their lands became tenant farmers. Others gave up farming and moved to the cities.

New farm methods made farmers more productive. For example, Jethro Tull invented a seed drill that made planting more efficient. Farmers also practiced crop rotation. Crop rotation is the practice of planting a different crop in a different field each year.

The increase in farm output made more food available. People enjoyed better diets. The population of Britain grew. Fewer farmers were needed to grow food. More people began to make goods

People often associate postwar Germany with technology and with its products of mass consumption such as luxury cars. Even pop music most notably Kraftwerk literally power station with songs such as Autobahn Radioactivity or We are the Robots disseminates the stereotype of a close link between German culture and technology. Technology in Modern German History explores various forms of technology in 200 years of German history and explains how technology has been fundamental to the shaping of modern Germany. The book investigates the role technology played in transforming Germany's culture, society and politics during the 19th and 20th centuries. Key topics covered include the different stages of industrialization, the growth of networked cities and the triumph of a teleological narrative of technology as progress. Moreover, it provides a critical revision of the history of high technology which reveals how high tech euphoria determined certain paths in history regardless of whether the respective technology proved to be successful. In its second part, the volume introduces new avenues in scholarship. Karsten Uhl examines neglected areas such as rural technologies or the often overlooked importance of everyday technologies. How did consumers or workers use new technologies? How did they appropriate and modify them? Lastly, the book considers the final decades of the 20th century and asks if they provided a significant new quality of technological change. To what degree and effects did computerization transform professional and private life in Germany? In culture and politics reinforced by the German variety of environmentalism, the idea of progress was challenged as the once prevailing vision of progress gave way to new apprehensions of uncertainty evident to this day. Technology in Modern German History brings fascinating insight into a much neglected area of German history for students and scholars alike. The High School, 1928 The Political Philosophies Since 1905, Their Origins and Their Tendencies Benoy Kumar Sarkar, 1928 History, 1984 The Political Philosophies Since 1905 ... Benoy Kumar Sarkar, 1928

Moving the AEC Beyond 2015 Tham Siew Yean, 2018-02-14

The ten Southeast Asian economies reached a milestone on 31 December 2015 when they announced the formation of an ASEAN Community Although this includes three pillars ASEAN Political Security Community ASEAN Economic Community AEC and the ASEAN Socio Cultural Community it is the economic pillar that generates immense debate due to its expected quantifiable benefits to member countries This book thus focuses on the ASEAN Economic Community and seeks to explain the need for building domestic consensus within the member countries It starts with an overview chapter describing the current achievements of the AEC It then explores possible explanations for the achievements non achievements and offers a hypothesis on conflicting economic interests in a country as one possible explanation for gaps in implementation This is because any form of economic liberalisation brings with it the winners and losers thereby raising resistance to liberalization measures and slowing down the implementation process The book includes six country chapters Indonesia Malaysia the Philippines Singapore Thailand and Vietnam that examine sources of domestic conflict s in greater detail and depth It also includes a regional chapter co authored by the ex Secretary General of ASEAN Mr Rodolfo Severino that brings out the political nature of ASEAN economic cooperation since its inception in 1976 For ASEAN beyond 2015 the book articulates the need to obtain a strong domestic consensus that supports the integration initiatives of the AEC This can be viewed as a way forward to accelerate and deepen integration within ASEAN The book concludes with some suggestions on how each country can move towards achieving domestic consensus based on the respective country level analysis
