Making is Connecting David Gauntlett, 2013-04-29 In Making is Connecting David Gauntlett argues that through making things people engage with the world and create connections with each other Both online and offline we see that people want to make their mark on the world and to make connections During the previous century the production of culture became dominated by professional elite producers But today a vast array of people are making and sharing their own ideas videos and other creative material online as well as engaging in real world crafts art projects and hands on experiences Gauntlett argues that we are seeing a shift from a sit back and be told culture to a making and doing culture People are rejecting traditional teaching and television and making their own learning and entertainment instead Drawing on evidence from psychology politics philosophy and economics he shows how this shift is necessary and essential for the happiness and survival of modern societies
