ABSTRACT

The rapid developments in IT sector accompanied by increased competition and acquisitions and mergers in the market, lead both academicians and practitioners to concentrate on the consumers' purchase decisions in portable PC industry. The NDP group's report published by PC World state that in May 2003, U.S. retailers made more money selling laptop/notebook computers than they did selling desktops. It was the first time that laptops have outsold desktops in the U.S. This research seeks to develop a better understanding of the factors influencing consumers' laptop purchases. What makes this study distinctive from other sectoral studies is that, this research also seeks the differences among three consumer groups (stayers, satisfied switchers, and dissatisfied switchers) of a company with respect to the factors influencing consumers' laptop purchases. It is found that core technical features, post purchase services, price and payment conditions, peripheral specifications, physical appearance, value added features, and connectivity and mobility are the seven factors that are influencing consumers' laptop purchases. Furthermore, price and payment conditions factor shows significant difference among three consumer groups of a company's customer base.

According to What Laptop (2005), Dell was the number one choice in worldwide with 7.9 million sales. It was followed respectively by HP (7.4 million), Toshiba (5.8 million), IBM (4.3 million), and Acer (3.9 million) in year 2004. Furthermore, revenue generated from notebooks has long surpassed desktops, thanks to higher average selling prices for notebooks. According to CRN (2006) in June 2005, notebook sales accounted for $216.1 million, or $1,442.66 per notebook whereas desktops accounted for $113.9 million, or $762.98 per unit. The average notebook price fell 11.8 percent from $1,635.07 in the year-ago month and in the same period, desktop prices fell 5 percent from $803.38 (CRN, 2006). In addition, new product launches to the market, acquisitions and mergers in the sector, rapid developments in the nano-technology, integrated wireless networking, and
