Realism and Invention in the Prints of Albrecht Dürer David R. Smith, 1995 Staging Death Anastasia Dakouri-Hild, Michael John Boyd, 2016-12-19 Places are social lived ideational landscapes constructed by people as they inhabit their natural and built environment An archaeology of place attempts to move beyond the understanding of the landscape as inert background or static fossil of human behaviour From a specifically mortuary perspective this approach entails a focus on the inherently mutable transient and performative qualities of deathscapes how they are remembered obliterated forgotten reworked or revisited over time Despite latent interest in this line of enquiry few studies have explored the topic explicitly in Aegean archaeology This book aims to identify ways in which to think about the deathscape as a cross between landscapes tombs bodies and identities supplementing and expanding upon well explored themes in the field e g tombs as vehicles for the legitimization of power funerary landscapes as arenas of social and political competition The volume recasts a wealth of knowledge about Aegean mortuary cultures against a theoretical background bringing the field up to date with recent developments in the archaeology of place Prehistoric Aphrodisias: Excavations and studies Martha Joukowsky,1986 Israel Exploration Journal ,1980 Threshold Sarah Yeo,2020 This project analyzes existing architectural threshold elements in order to define threshold in relationship to an urban fabric and design for entrances that promote a positive experience Throughout the analysis the human scale will be held as the common denominator in all scenerios in order to personalize the sequence of movements required from approach through transition The goal is to consider the alignment of thresholds required to enter a built form as the experiential narrative that allows the curious user to want to enter Thresholds have the potential to set up the first impression for our relationship to spaces page 8
