Understanding Organisational Culture in the Construction Industry Vaughan Coffey, 2010-01-28 Since the early 1980s researchers and practitioners in the organisational and management fields have presumed a link between organisational or corporate culture and organisational performance Whilst many believe this exists other authors have been critical of the validity of such studies Part of this doubt stems from a reliance on measures of organisational performance that are based purely on financial measures of business growth Using the construction industry as the subject of his research Vaughan Coffey traces the development of the literature on organisational culture and business effectiveness and investigates the culture performance link using a new and highly objective measure of company performance and an evaluation of organisational culture which is largely behaviourally based Providing a theoretical contribution to the field this work shows that various cultural traits appear to be closely linked to objectively measured organisational effectiveness This book will be valuable to professionals and researchers in the fields of management and public policy It indicates directions for construction companies to develop and change and in doing so strengthen their chances of remaining strong when opportunities for work might deplete and only the most successful companies will be able to survive Building for a Changing Culture and Climate Ulrich Pfammatter, 2014 The author of this book aims to encourage an awareness of sustainability as it is implemented across all areas of planning and design and the ability to think and act on this knowledge This book will explore in genuine depth the sustainable strategies that could be applied along with the practical work of key figures in the built environment setting these against historical experiences and traditional cultures It also aims to revive the discourse around these subjects Achieving this will require the involvement of architects and structural energy and environmental engineers construction businesses and specialists research institutes and universities The five chapters and 333 show cased projects reflect important stages in the architectural and engineering based design process stages which need to be addressed when dealing with sustainable strategies in the built environment Building Community in Buildings Ken Baker, Jana M. Kemp, 2006-11-30 Building Community in Buildings takes us on a fascinating journey through workplaces large and small old and new traditional and contemporary to explore the dynamic relationships between people and the structures in which they work Noting that a child born today will spend 90 percent of his or her life inside Jana Kemp and Ken Baker integrate insights from management and building design to reveal new understandings about workplace productivity and performance Showcasing dozens of examples from office buildings to libraries to hospitals the authors highlight innovative practices that utilize space to promote creativity and collaboration improve morale and motivation and ensure employee health and safety Featuring over a dozen photographs practical recommendations and the tools to conduct a workplace design survey in your own organization Building Community in Buildings ultimately demonstrates that by investing in spaces that support people needs companies will strengthen bottom line results Building Community in Buildings takes us on a fascinating journey through workplaces large and small old and new traditional and contemporary to explore the dynamic relationships between people and the structures in which they work Consider that in the 1950s average North Americans spent approximately 50 percent of their time in buildings compared to a child born today who will spend 90 percent of his or her life inside Clearly and increasingly our social and cultural relationships are deeply influenced by the physical spaces in which they are created Jana Kemp and Ken Baker integrate insights from management and building design to reveal new understandings about workplace productivity and performance Showcasing dozens of examples from the redesign of the Hood River Library in Oregon with input from front line employees to the creation of open naturally lit spaces in Lockheed Building 157 increasing employee productivity by 15% the authors highlight innovative practices that utilize space to promote creativity and collaboration improve morale and motivation and ensure employee health and safety They
