INTRODUCTION

The death of a loved one is one of the most traumatic experiences any of us will ever have. The California Department of Consumer Affairs' Cemetery and Funeral Board has developed this booklet to assist you in making the difficult decisions about funeral and cemetery arrangements for yourself or someone close to you. By asking the right questions, comparing prices and services, and making informed decisions, you can make arrangements that are meaningful to your family and control the costs for you and your survivors.

The Cemetery and Funeral Board Bureau, regulated, and investigates complaints against California funeral establishments, funeral directors, embalmers, preparation embalmers, cemetery brokers, cemetery salespersons, cemetery managers, cremated remains disposers, crematories, crematory managers and the nearly 300 funeral and private-cemeteries in the state.

NOTE: The Board does not handle complaints against nonprofit organizations, religious societies, or cemetery districts; the military; Native American tribal organizations; or other groups. If you don't know who regulates the consumer you're interested in, ask the cemetery manager.

If you need help with a cemetery or funeral issue, visit the Bureau's Web site at www.cdca.gov or call the Department of Consumer Affairs' Consumer Information Center at (800) 952-5252 or the Bureau at (916) 634-1878.

LEGAL REQUIREMENTS

Disposition Arrangements

California law requires those who have the right, duty, and responsibility to make decisions about disposition arrangements after a person's death. They are, in order, as listed in the law:

A person, prior to his or her death.

The Person Authorized for Death Disposition (PADE) on a D.E. Department of Defense Record of Emergency Data (DD Form 93) as that form existed on December 31, 2011, or its successor form.

An agent under a California power of attorney for health care.

The surviving competent spouse or registered domestic partner.

The surviving competent adult child or the majority of the surviving competent adult children.

The surviving competent parent or parents.

The surviving competent adult sibling or the majority of the surviving competent adult siblings.

The surviving competent adult or the majority of the surviving competent adults in the next degree of kinship.

A conservator of the person appointed under Part 5 (commencing with Section 1800) of Division 4 of the Probate Code when the decedent has sufficient assets.

A conservator of the estate appointed under Part 6 (commencing with Section 1800) of Division 4 of the Probate Code when the decedent has sufficient assets.

The public administrator when the decedent has sufficient assets.

Details: A person may direct in writing the disposition of his or her remains and specify the funeral goods and services desired. Unless there is a written statement to the contrary that is signed and dated by the person, these directions may not be changed in any material way except as required by law.

The law precludes a person's choice after death, providing that:

The written directions are clear and complete; and

Arrangements for payment of final services via trusts, insurance, contributions by others, or any other means have been made which precludes the payment of money by the survivors;] who right after enter have the right to control disposition.
