Design Guide Aisc:

Structural Design Guide Edward S. Hoffman, David P. Gustafson, Albert J. Gouwens, Paul F. Rice, 2012-12-06 I I This book is intended to guide practicing structural engineers into more profitable routine designs with the AISC Load and Resistance Factor Design Specification LRFD for structural steel buildings LRFD is a method of proportioning steel structures so that no applicable limit state is exceeded when the structure is subjected to all appropriate factored load combinations Strength limit states are related to safety and concern maximum load carrying capacity Serviceability limit states are related to performance under service load conditions such as deflections The term resistance includes both strength states and serviceability limit states LRFD is a new approach to the design of structural steel for buildings It involves explicit consideration of limit states multiple load factors and resistance factors and implicit probabilistic determination of reliability The type of factoring used by LRFD differs from the allowable stress design of Chapters A through M of the 1989 Ninth Edition of the AISC Specifications for Allowable Stress Design where only the resistance is divided by a factor of safety to obtain an allowable stress and from the plastic design provisions of Chapter N where the loads are multiplied by a common load factor of 1.7 for gravity loads and 1.3 for gravity loads acting with wind or seismic loads LRFD offers the structural engineer greater flexibility rationality and economy than the previous 1989 Ninth Edition of the AISC Specifications for Allowable Stress Design Structural Design Guide to AISC Specifications for Buildings Paul F. Rice, Edward S. Hoffman, 1976
