Quality Assurance Guidelines for Biological Testing Tracor Jitco, Inc,1978      A Framework for Assessing the Health Hazard Posed by Bioaerosols National Research Council,Division on Earth and Life Studies,Board on Life Sciences,Board on Chemical Sciences and Technology,Committee on Determining a Standard Unit of Measure for Biological Aerosols,2008-11-30 Biological warfare agent BWA detectors are designed to provide alerts to military personnel of the presence of dangerous biological agents Detecting such agents promptly makes it possible to minimize contamination and personnel exposure and initiate early treatment It is also important though that detectors not raise an alarm when the situation does not warrant it The question considered in this book is whether Agent Containing Particles per Liter of Air ACPLA is an appropriate unit of measure for use in the evaluation of aerosol detectors and whether a better alternative measure can be developed The book finds that ACPLA alone cannot determine whether a health threat exists In order to be useful and comparable across all biological agents and detection systems measurements must ultimately be related to health hazard A Framework for Assessing the Health Hazard Posed by Bioaerosols outlines the possibility of a more complex but more useful measurement framework that makes it possible to evaluate relative hazard by including agent identity and activity particle size and infectious dose      Peterson's Graduate Programs in the Biological Sciences 2012
