Academic Success For African-American Students Bobby Allen, Ed.D., 2014-05-08 This mixed methods study of 157 disadvantaged African American students and six teachers investigated the effectiveness of an after school tutoring program in improving students grades The reading English language arts and mathematics grades of student participants were compared using independent t tests and analysis of variance The grades of participants were also compared to corresponding grades of non participants Results showed significant benefits in all areas The author asserts that there exists a better way to educate African American students and assure greater academic success Advances in Library Administration and Organization Delmus E. Williams, Janine Golden, 2010-11-08 Provides a body of research literature that contributes to the base of organizational theory upon which library administrators rely This title covers a variety of topics relating to the management of academic and public and school libraries Improving Testing Rohit Ramaswamy, Cheryl Wild, 2017-09-25 The primary purpose of this book is to demonstrate how proven quality assurance tools and methods that have been applied successfully in the manufacturing and service industries for the past 20 years can be applied in the testing industry It defines what is meant by the term quality in testing and reviews how three business process concepts standards process planning and design and continuous improvement can be used to improve the way in which tests are designed administered scored and reported so that errors can be eliminated Yes, We Are Stupid in America! Dr. Vicky Wells, 2013-01-21 Students in countries such as Finland South Korea and Singapore continue to outperform their peers in America But that hasnt stopped the United States government from spending more money on education as achievement plummets Dr Vicky Wells a former school principal explores whats going on at the federal state and local levels so that members of the public can hold bureaucrats accountable In a series of reality checks she explains how to meet the growing crisis head on equip students with the necessary skills upon graduation make decisions based upon the input of real life educators and ignore politics in order to best serve students Teachers and parents trust leaders to make decisions based on whats best for the students Even so all too often decision making seems to be more about politics and quid pro quo and this does not best serve students educators or the community The educational system continues to decline and students keep dropping out or graduating without the knowledge they need to succeed Its time to stop constantly changing curriculum and start focusing on the real problems confronting teachers and students Knowledge and Power in the Global Economy David Gabbard, 2017-07-05 Advancing a three fold political agenda this volume illuminates how the meanings assigned to a whole vocabulary of words and phrases frequently used to discuss the role and reform of U S public schools reflect an essentially economic view of the world contends that education or educational reform conducted under an economized worldview will only intensify the effects of the colonial relations of political and economic domination that it breeds at home and abroad and offers a set of alternative concepts and meanings for reformulating the role of U S public schools and for considering the implications of such a reformulation more generally for the underlying premises of all human relationships and activities Toward these ends the authors in Part I critically examine many of the most commonly used terms within the rhetoric of educational reform since the early 1980s and before Part II links today's economized worldview to curricular and instructional issues These essays are especially important for comprehending how the organization of school curriculum privileges those disciplines deemed most central to market expansion math and science and how the political centrality of the economic sphere influences the nature of the knowledge presented in specific content areas Given that language constrains as well as advances human thought the twin tasks of de economizing education and decolonizing society will require a vocabulary that transcends the familiar terminologies addressed in Parts I and II The entries in Part III cultivate the beginnings of such a vocabulary as the authors elucidate innovative concepts which they view as central to the creation of truly alternative educational visions and practices
