Arts in Place Cara Courage, 2017-02-03 This interdisciplinary book explores the role of art in placemaking in urban environments analysing how artists and communities use arts to improve their quality of life It explores the concept of social practice placemaking where artists and community members are seen as equal experts in the process Drawing on examples of local level projects from the USA and Europe the book explores the impact of these projects on the people involved on their relationship to the place around them and on city policy and planning practice Case studies include Art Tunnel Smithfield Dublin an outdoor art gallery and community space in an impoverished area of the city The Drawing Shed London a contemporary arts practice operating in housing estates and parks in Walthamstow and Big Car Indianapolis an arts organisation operating across the whole of this Midwest city This book offers a timely contribution bridging the gap between cultural studies and placemaking It will be of interest to scholars students and practitioners working in geography urban studies architecture planning sociology cultural studies and the arts

The Schenley Experiment Jake Oresick, 2017-04-14 The Schenley Experiment is the story of Pittsburgh's first public high school a social incubator in a largely segregated city that was highly even improbably successful throughout its 156 year existence Established in 1855 as Central High School and reorganized in 1916 Schenley High School was a model of innovative public education and an ongoing experiment in diversity Its graduates include Andy Warhol actor Bill Nunn and jazz virtuoso Earl Hines and its prestigious academic program and pensions lured such teachers as future Pulitzer Prize winner Willa Cather The subject of investment as well as destructive neglect the school reflects the history of the city of Pittsburgh and provides a study in both the best and worst of urban public education practices there and across the Rust Belt Integrated decades before Brown v Board of Education Schenley succumbed to default segregation during the white flight of the 1970s it rose again to prominence in the late 1980s when parents camped out in six day long lines to enroll their children in visionary superintendent Richard C Wallace's reinvigorated school Although the historic triangular building was a cornerstone of its North Oakland neighborhood and a showpiece for the city of Pittsburgh officials closed the school in 2008 citing over 50 million in necessary renovations a controversial event that captured national attention Schenley alumnus Jake Oresick tells this story through interviews historical documents and hundreds of first person accounts drawn from a community indelibly tied to the school A memorable important work of local and educational history his book is a case study of desegregation magnet education and the changing nature and legacies of America's oldest public schools

Nigeria's Cultural and Creative Industries Ikechukwu Obiaya, Kizito Ogedi Alakwe, Emmanuel Nzeaka, 2025-12-08 This book offers a compelling exploration of Nigeria's vibrant cultural and creative industries unpacking their core components challenges institutional frameworks and transformative potential for national development From the role of government and regulatory bodies to the power of local innovation the volume provides a timely and strategic assessment of how Nigeria's creative economy is shaping a new narrative for growth

As Africa's most populous country Nigeria boasts a rich cultural mosaic and a growing generation of dynamic creatives making waves both locally and globally. With Nollywood, Afrobeats and indigenous fashion now commanding international attention, creative output is fast overtaking oil as Nigeria's most influential export. Through sector-specific case studies, the book critically examines this shift, highlighting high-impact sectors like film, fashion, music and visual arts, while also shining a light on underexplored industries such as publishing, advertising and hospitality. It asks bold questions about whether the right structures are in place to truly harness Nigeria's soft power for economic and social impact. Providing a thorough and nuanced analysis of Nigeria's creative landscape, this book will be an important read for researchers, students and policymakers with an interest in the future of African culture, innovation, identity and industry.

Art and the Global

Economy John Zarobell, 2017-04-18 Art and the Global Economy analyzes major changes in the global art world that have emerged in the last twenty years, including structural shifts in the global art market, the proliferation of international art fairs, biennials and blockbuster exhibitions, and the internationalization of the scope of contemporary art. John Zarobell explores the economic and social transformations in the cultural sphere, the results of greater access to information about art exhibitions and markets around the world, as well as the increasing interpenetration of formerly distinct geographical domains. By considering a variety of locations, both long-standing art capitals and up-and-coming centers of the future, Art and the Global Economy facilitates a deeper understanding of how globalization affects the domain of the visual arts in the twenty-first century. With contributions by Lucia Cantero, Mariana David, Valentin Diaconov, Kai Lossgott, Grace Murray, Chhoti Rao, Emma Rogers and Michelle Wong.

Art to Come Terry Smith, 2019-09-06 In Art to Come, Terry Smith, who is widely recognized as one of the world's leading historians and theorists of contemporary art, traces the emergence of contemporary art and further develops his concept of contemporaneity. Smith shows that embracing contemporaneity as both a historical concept and a condition of the globalized world allows us to grasp how contemporary art exists in a fluid space of increasing interdependencies, multiple contemporaneous modernities and persistent inequalities. Throughout these essays, Smith offers systematic proposals for writing contemporary art's histories while assessing how curators, critics, philosophers, artists and art historians are currently doing so. Among other topics, Smith examines the intersection of architecture with other visual arts, Chinese art since the Cultural Revolution, how philosophers are theorizing concepts associated with the contemporary, Australian Indigenous art and the current state of art history. Art to Come will be essential reading for artists, art students, curators, gallery workers, historians, critics and theorists.
