Gilbert,David Treagust,2009-02-28 Chemistry seeks to provide qualitative and quantitative explanations for the observed behaviour of elements and their compounds Doing so involves making use of three types of representation the macro the empirical properties of substances the sub micro the natures of the entities giving rise to those properties and the symbolic the number of entities involved in any changes that take place Although understanding this triplet relationship is a key aspect of chemical education there is considerable evidence that students find great difficulty in achieving mastery of the ideas involved In bringing together the work of leading chemistry educators who are researching the triplet relationship at the secondary and university levels the book discusses the learning involved the problems that students encounter and successful approaches to teaching Based on the reported research the editors argue for a coherent model for understanding the triplet relationship in chemical education The Practice of Chemistry Donald J. Wink,Sharon Fetzner-Gislason,Sheila McNicholas,2003-03 Students can't do chemistry if they can't do the math The Practice of Chemistry First Edition is the only preparatory chemistry text to offer students targeted consistent mathematical support to make sure they understand how to use math especially algebra in chemical problem solving The book's unique focus on actual chemical practice extensive study tools and integrated media makes The Practice of Chemistry the most effective way to prepare students for the standard general chemistry course and bright futures as science majors This special PowerPoint tour of the text was created by Don Wink http://www.bfwpub.com/pdfs/wink/POCPowerPoint_Final.ppt 832KB Holt Chemistry Ralph Thomas Myers,2004
