Punter, 1998-08-19 This is a wide ranging book about aspects of the Gothic from classic texts such as Frankenstein and Wuthering Heights to contemporary fiction by Iain Banks William Gibson and many others It approaches the texts through looking at the opposition between the Gothic and the law suggesting ways in which Gothic at all points produces transgression It looks at horror fiction by for example Stephen King and Robert Bloch as well as stories from China and Hong Kong and suggests new ways in which contemporary literary and psychological theory might relate to and address the Gothic The Theological Turn in Contemporary Gothic Fiction Simon Marsden, 2019-10-25 This study examines theological themes and resonances in post 1970 Gothic fiction It argues that contemporary Gothic is not simply a secularised genre but rather one that engages creatively and often subversively with theological texts and traditions This creative engagement is reflected in Gothic fiction's exploration of theological concepts including sin and evil Christology and the messianic resurrection eschatology and apocalypse Through readings of fiction by Gothic and horror writers including Stephen King Joyce Carol Oates Peter Straub William Peter Blatty and others this book demonstrates that Christianity continues to haunt the Gothic imagination and that the genre's openness to the mysterious numinous and non rational opens space in which to explore religious beliefs and experiences less easily accessible to more overtly realist forms of representation The book offers a new perspective on contemporary Gothic fiction that will be of interest to students and scholars of contemporary Gothic and of the relationship between literature and religion more generally The Edinburgh Companion to Gothic and the Arts David Punter, 2025-05 The Gothic in all its artistic forms and ramifications is traced from the medieval to the twenty first century
