Putting Civics to the Test David E. Campbell, 2014 There is a continuing national debate over the efficacy of state level exams and whether assessments in civics enhances democratic education This paper uses a large 2012 national survey of 18-24 year olds to examine the potential effect of civics assessments on civic outcomes In doing so it attempts to answer three questions 1 Do civics assessments matter 2 For what outcomes do civics assessments matter and 3 For whom do civics assessments matter most In brief the answers to the questions were 1 yes if the assessments have academic consequences 2 political knowledge and 3 minorities and immigrants especially Hispanic immigrants This paper suggests that future research should examine what happens to civic knowledge when states adopt or eliminate a civics assessment Similarly such studies could explore whether the behavior of students teachers and administrators changes with the introduction of a new assessment The state of citizenship in America would be all the stronger for it
