Investigating Human Error Barry Strauch, 2017-03-16 In this book the author applies contemporary error theory to the needs of investigators and of anyone attempting to understand why someone made a critical error, how that error led to an incident or accident, and how to prevent such errors in the future. Students and investigators of human error will gain an appreciation of the literature on error with numerous references to both scientific research and investigative reports in a wide variety of applications, from airplane accidents to bus accidents to bonfire disasters. Based on the author's extensive experience as an accident investigator and instructor of both aircraft accident investigation techniques and human factors psychology, it reviews recent human factors literature, summarizes major transportation accidents, and shows how to investigate the types of errors that typically occur in high risk industries. It presents a model of human error causation influenced largely by James Reason and Neville Moray, and relates it to error investigations with step by step guidelines for data collection and analysis that investigators can readily apply as needed. This second edition of Investigating Human Error has been brought up to date throughout with pertinent recent accidents and safety literature integrated. It features new material on fatigue, distraction (e.g. mobile phone and texting) and medication use. It also now explores the topics of corporate culture, safety culture, and safety management systems. Additionally, the second edition considers the effects of the reduction in the number of major accidents on investigation quality, the consequences of social changes on transportation safety such as drinking and driving, cell phone use, etc. the contemporary role of accident investigation, and the effects of the prosecution of those involved in accidents.

Humans and Robots Sven Nyholm, 2020-03-09 Can robots perform actions, make decisions, collaborate with humans, be our friends, perhaps fall in love, or potentially harm us? Even before these things truly happen, ethical and philosophical questions already arise. The reason is that we humans have a tendency to spontaneously attribute minds and agency to anything, even remotely humanlike. Moreover, some people already say that robots should be our companions and have rights. Others say that robots should be slaves. This book tackles emerging ethical issues about human beings, robots, and agency head on. It explores the ethics of creating robots that are or appear to be decision making agents. From military robots to self driving cars to care robots or even sex robots equipped with artificial intelligence, how should we interpret the apparent agency of such robots? This book argues that we need to explore how human beings can best coordinate and collaborate with robots in responsible ways It investigates ethically important differences between human agency and robot agency to work towards an ethics of responsible human robot interaction Emerging Technologies, Novel Crimes, and Security Hedi Nasheri,2024-12-30 This book provides a holistic overview of the complexities of modern technological advances and their implications for crime and security It examines the societal dilemmas that accompany these technologies their strategic impact on geopolitics governments business and civil society The increasingly interconnected world gives rise to novel crimes and creates a new complex set of threats Understanding this landscape is essential to strategizing for the prevention protection mitigation and risk assessment of technology related crime Practical and approachable this book builds knowledge and awareness of the impact of emerging technologies on crime and security among professionals students academicians researchers and policymakers Applications of AI for Interdisciplinary Research Sukhpal Singh Gill,2024-09-13 Applying artificial intelligence AI to new fields has made AI and data science indispensable to researchers in a wide range of fields The proliferation and successful deployment of AI algorithms are fuelling these changes which can be seen in fields as disparate as healthcare and emerging Internet of Things IoT applications Machine learning techniques and AI more broadly are expected to play an ever increasing role in the modelling simulation and analysis of data from a wide range of fields by the interdisciplinary research community Ideas and techniques from multidisciplinary research are being utilised to enhance AI hence the connection between the two fields is a two way street at a crossroads Algorithms for inference sampling and optimisation as well as investigations into the efficacy of deep learning frequently make use of methods and concepts from other fields of study Cloud computing platforms may be used to develop and deploy several AI models with high computational power The intersection between multiple fields including math science and healthcare is where the most significant theoretical and methodological problems of AI may be found To gather integrate and synthesise the many results and viewpoints in the connected domains refer to it as interdisciplinary research In light of this the theory techniques and applications of machine learning and AI as well as how they are utilised across disciplinary boundaries are the main areas of this research topic This book apprises the readers about the important and cutting edge aspects of AI applications for interdisciplinary research and guides them to apply their acquaintance in the best possible manner This book is formulated with the intent of uncovering the stakes and possibilities involved in using AI through efficient interdisciplinary applications The main objective of this book is to provide scientific and engineering research on technologies in the fields of AI and data science and how they can be related through interdisciplinary applications and similar technologies This book covers various important domains such as healthcare the stock market natural language processing NLP real estate data security cloud computing edge computing data visualisation using cloud platforms event management systems IoT the telecom sector federated learning and network performance optimisation Each chapter focuses on the corresponding subject outline to offer
