Cape History Unit Past Papers:

Lost Communities, Living Memories Sean Field, 2001 Between 1913 and 1989 some four million South Africans were forcibly removed from their homes to enforce residential segregation along racial lines This study records and interprets the memories of some of the Capetonians who were relocated as a result of the infamous Group Areas Act Former residents of Windermere Tramway Road in Sea Point District Six Lower Claremont and Simon's Town narrate their experiences

Letters and Documents Relating to the Early History of the Lower Cape Fear Kemp Plummer Battle, 1904

Language in Cape Town's District Six Kay McCormick, 2002 The book is a sociolinguistic case study of District Six an inner city neighbourhood in Cape Town characterized by language mixing and switching of English and Afrikaans Its early inhabitants included indigenous people freed slaves of African and Asian origin and immigrants from Europe and elsewhere The ravages of apartheid affected the residents' attitudes towards their languages in various ways which are described The book examines the norms and practices regarding language choice for various functions and domains in the only surviving sector of District Six It also contains detailed analyses of extended bilingual conversations showing a range of social linguistic and discourse features Of particular interest is the paradoxical polarization and blending of the two languages They are strongly polarized symbolically and functionally yet they are also habitually blended in vernacular speech through lexical borrowing and intrasentential language switching This paradox has interesting implications for the construction of individual community and language identity
