Notes: The results of my report for the 4 private television programmes. I also developed stories to promote the results, but did not include them in this report. I am grateful to my colleagues.

1. Analyze customer needs (identify a problem and come up with the first solution, "What if...?")
2. Build the first solution (Take inspiration from the outputs of the first solution and bring along a second team member to build on it. You also use the "What if...?" programming tool)
3. Iterate and build your solution (Use the ideas of the knowledge you have and improve with a partner, including the approach you have chosen so far. Repeat.)
4. Get your solution validated (ask for feedback and to be improved)

- 4. Requirements
  - 1. From the system under test (SUT) 4 inputs are used: input number
    - Input 1: Input number is basic (nothing is on the IP queue) and add (there is a new thing on the queue) and del (there is a new thing on the queue). New values for each number. They are 0 (no new thing), 1 (new thing), 2 (deleting thing).
  - Input 2: Name and number the identifier (value corresponding to the basic) are used in program.
  - Input 3: Name and add (new) or del (delete) something adding.
  - Input 4: Test (check) output of the basic (input from IP queue).
- 5. Representing the system
  - 1. Representing the system is done by the Matrix. Firstly, we are describing the system:
