new scanning and telemicroscopy solutions to digitise the millions of pinned insect specimens held in the Australian National Insect Collection and its European and North American counterparts citizen science projects being used to crowdsource the transcription of thousands of specimen labels and field notebooks and new data portals providing central access to millions of biological specimens across Europe Many of these projects deal with the unique challenges associated with major collections that have built up over several centuries with different communities of practices and different user communities Despite many differences standards for collection acquisition preservation and documentation are broadly consistent meaning that there is sufficient common ground to bring together the enormous amounts of data that are being exposed through mass digitisation efforts These data will become the new frontier for natural history collection management and research in the next decade
