c. 1200 - c. 1450

Topic 1.1 Developments in East Asia from c. 1200 to c. 1450

Learning Objective Explain the systems of government employed by Chinese dynasties and how they developed over time.	Historical Developments Empires and states in Afro-Eurasia and the Americas demonstrated continuity, innovation, and diversity in the 13th century. This included the Song Dynasty of China, which utilized traditional methods of Confucianism and imperial bureaucracy to maintain and justify its rule.	1. Describe Song China (include SPICE-T characteristics). The Song Dynasty flourished during its time, the reasons for that are simple. They had a strong government (an Imperial Bureaucracy) and the influence of their religion. Their religion played a strong role in the way society worked and how the people put their trust in the government. The economy of the Song mainly relied on free peasants and artists. During the Song dynasty, there were significant strides made in medicine, commerce, and education. They also invented gunpowder and the compass, craft also improved through block printing. They followed the Neo-Confucianism sect of Taoism, which affected people's roles and laws by women caring for the extended family that lived in a single house. They improved the rice plant through cultivation, allowing for massive spawn, which created enormous shortages. 2. Explain the influence of Confucianism on Song China's political system. The Song Dynasty system was eroded by Neo-Confucianism, which increased the power of the powerful, allowed citizens to move into elite social classes, and worked its way into laws to create a perception that augments punishment through the laws.
Learning Objective Explain the effects of Chinese cultural traditions on East Asia over time.	Historical Developments Chinese cultural traditions continued, and they influenced neighboring regions. Cultural traditions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Filial piety in East Asia ▪ Influence of Neo-Confucianism and Buddhism in East Asia ▪ Confucian traditions of both respect for and expected deference from women ▪ Chinese literary and scholarly traditions and their spread to Heian Japan and Korea Buddhism and its core beliefs continued to	3. Explain the influence of Confucianism on Song China's society and culture. The Confucian school of thought was strongly represented in the Chinese legal system. This was represented by the emperor and to a lesser extent, his domains. It heavily influenced the legal system, influencing how religion was formulated and the scope of law it had. This had consequences for women in that they did not have a high status or a bright future. The most obvious example of this was when the emperor said that women were not equal to men, showing his power in the legal system.
