Caps Life Orientation Curriculum:

Citizenship, Education and Violence Waghid Yusef, 2013-12-30 The focus of this book is to offer a humane response to dealing with violence. An interpretive analysis is presented in order to think differently about violence in schools and about how a citizenship education of becoming can deal with the unpredictable consequences of violence in its own potentiality. It seems to the authors that given the confident onslaught of violence there is nothing left to do but to offer insight into the nature of violence itself and by so doing to search for unexplored ways of humane response and being. The authors are not pretending to hold a magic wand that will sanctify schools into the safe zones that they ought to be and as which they should serve in any society. This would be both presumptuous and misleading. What one is looking and hoping for however is a renewed engagement, a slight tilting of the perspective so that something other than how we have always responded to violence perhaps will emerge. The authors are confident that such a deconstructive approach to violence in schools through the lens of a reconsidered view of citizenship education can assist them and others to wrestle with its potential for destruction that can be changed into options for co belonging of a non violent if not peaceful kind. Legal pedagogy, practice and curriculum transformation: What does the future hold and look like?

Charles Maimela, 2025-07-18 In an era marked by rapid technological innovation and complex socio political shifts legal education stands at a critical crossroads. This timely publication explores the imperative for a curriculum that is both responsive and resilient, capable of adapting to the evolving needs of students, institutions and society at large. Blending theoretical analysis with practical insight, the book offers forwardthinking strategies to navigate the multifaceted challenges of curriculum transformation. Drawing on the lived experiences and reflections of law educators across diverse institutions, it provides a unique lens into how curriculum innovation can enhance teaching, learning and research in the legal academy. More than a commentary, this book is a call to action, a vital resource for educators, academic leaders and policymakers committed to ensuring the continued relevance, excellence and social responsiveness of legal education in the 21st century.
