Bhm 101 Principles Of Economic

Klaus Mathis, Avishalom Tor

Bhm 101 Principles Of Economic:

Routledge Library Editions: The History of Economic Thought Various Authors, 2022-07-30 The volumes in this set originally published between 1925 and 1990 draw together research by leading academics in the area of the history of economic thought The volumes encompass many different schools of economic thought with a focus on individual economic thinkers such as Friedrich Hayek Adam Smith and Piero Sraffa This set will be of interest to students of economics particularly students of the history of economic thought

British Economists and the Empire John Cunningham Wood, 2017-01-20 This study first published in 1983 is primarily concerned with what the British economists over the period 1860 to 1914 wrote on a range of economic and non economic aspects of the British Empire and the reasons for their conclusions The attempt is also made to correct the view that mainstream British economists after 1860 were antithetical to the concept of empire This title will be of interest to students of economic thought

Law and Economics of Justice Klaus Mathis, Avishalom Tor, 2024-04-30 While previous volumes have examined specific issues and developments such as the coronavirus crisis or digital transformation from a law and economics perspective the anniversary edition returns to the methodological and philosophical fundament of the discipline of law and economics The present book aims to examine these foundations in general and in particular efficiency reciprocity and meritocracy and their relation to law and justice from an interdisciplinary perspective

Efficiency Traditionally the economic analysis of law has been guided by the goal of efficiency Economists usually define efficiency as Pareto or Kaldor Hicks efficiency Any change that makes one member of society better off without anyone else being worse off is a Pareto improvement A change is a Kaldor Hicks improvement if the gainers value their gains more than the losers value their losses with only hypothetical compensation required

Reciprocity Economists have traditionally based their models on the self interest hypothesis of homo oeconomicus In this model an individual maximises his own utility without being altruistic or jealous

Behavioural economics challenges the self interest hypothesis In fact many people deviate from purely self interested behaviour There are also signs that considerations of fairness and mutual benefit are important in bilateral negotiations and in the functioning of markets

Meritocracy The concept of meritocracy refers to a system organisation or society in which people are selected and promoted to positions of success power and influence on the basis of their abilities and merits This means that an individual is able to climb the social ladder through hard work Moreover meritocracy directs the most talented people into the most functionally important positions thereby increasing a society's efficiency However the equalising function of meritocracy has been criticised Rather than reducing inequality meritocracy is seen as the cause of racial economic and social inequality

Interest in Islamic Economics Abdulkader Thomas, 2005-12-12 With Islamic banking gradually becoming a more influential factor in the West an analysis of the concept of riba a definition of which is not given in the Qur'an is long overdue This text presents readers with various interpretations of this Islamic economic concept generally perceived as interest Thomas provides a framework for understanding riba by examining linguistics classical judicial analysis the historical context modern economics Including contributions from prominent international scholars the book fills a gap in the existing literature and will be welcomed by academics and professionals with an interest in Islamic studies economics and legal history The Federal Role in the Federal System United States.
