HC 811 - Financial Support for Students at Alternative Higher Education Providers Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Committee of Public Accounts, 2015 Approximately 140 institutions offering higher education are termed alternative providers These alternative providers comprise a diverse range of organisations ranging from private companies to charitable institutions They do not receive government grants directly but do access public funding through student loans which are used to pay their fees Following the announcement of higher education reforms in 2011 and the associated increase in tuition fee loans there has been substantial and rapid growth in the sector Between 2010 11 and 2013 14 the number of students claiming support for courses at alternative providers rose from 7 000 to 53 000 Over the same period the total amount of public money paid to students at alternative providers through tuition fee loans and maintenance loans and grants has risen from around 50 million to around 675 million The Department has overall responsibility for oversight of publicly funded higher education including alternative providers with publicly funded students The Department did not learn from previous Government experience furthermore it has been slow to react to warning signs The rapid expansion in numbers was concentrated in five colleges that accounted for 50% of the expansion 20% of students receiving funding were not registered for a qualification and drop out rates were very high in some institutions There was also evidence from whistleblowers that proficiency in English language was not tested that some institutions were recruiting students on the streets and that students claiming funding were not attending colleges

Equality and Differentiation in Marketised Higher Education Marion Bowl, Colin McCaig, Jonathan Hughes, 2018-05-24 This edited collection demonstrates how discourses and practices associated with marketisation differentiation and equality are manifested in UK higher education today Uniting leading scholars in higher education and equality in England the contributors and editors expose the contradictions arising from the tension between aims for increased equality and an increasingly marketised higher education As the authors seek to reveal both the intended and unintended consequences of the intensified marketisation of the sector they critically examine the implications of these changes In doing so they reveal the ways in which institutional policy and discourse are involved in masking the contradictions between an educational marketplace and education as a vehicle for advancing equality and social justice This pioneering volume will be of interest and value to students and scholars of higher education in England education policy and the marketisation of higher education as well as policy makers and practitioners
