Towards Sustainable Development Goal of Zero Hunger: Exploring the Dynamic Relationships between Food

Pricing, Agriculture, and Food Security Noshaba Aziz, Wioletta Żukiewicz-Sobczak, Ruishi Si, 2025-10-16 United Nations Sustainable Development Goal SDG 2 aspires to eradicate hunger by 2030 emphasizing the intricate relationships between agriculture food security and nutrition. However, this noble pursuit faces formidable challenges in emerging countries due to a confluence of international disruptions. Climate change, the COVID-19 pandemic, and geopolitical conflicts like the war in Ukraine have triggered sharp spikes in commodity prices, amplifying food security concerns particularly in developing nations. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations recently reported the highest global food price increase since the 1990s in March. This commodity price inflation in turn reverberates across agriculture, impacting not only a nation's economy but also its food production capacity. Elevated commodity prices drive up the costs of agricultural inputs such as fertilizers, pesticides, and fuel, compelling farmers to pass these expenses on to consumers in the form of higher food prices. Moreover, country-specific economic factors within the agricultural sector, including land ownership, technology adoption, farming practices, and infrastructure, further complicate the food security landscape. Therefore, the intricate interplay between commodity price inflation, agriculture, and food security is significantly influenced by a nation's unique economic dynamics within its agricultural sector. Effectively addressing these challenges necessitates a blend of international and domestic policy measures to ensure that the benefits of agricultural progress reach the broader population.

Natural Compounds/Products and Livestock Productivity: Enhancing Antioxidant Levels, Gut Health, Mitigating Greenhouse Gas Emissions, and Disease Control Moyosore Joseph Adegbeye, Valiollah Palangi, Sadarman Sadarman, Abdelfattah Z. M. Salem, 2025-09-26 Livestock productivity is crucial for agricultural sustainability and food security, facing the dual challenges of enhancing production while reducing environmental impacts and safeguarding animal welfare. The exploration of natural compounds from plants and other organic sources has emerged as a promising avenue to bolster livestock production. Natural compounds are increasingly recognized for their potential to improve antioxidant defenses, promote gut health, mitigate greenhouse gas emissions, and prevent diseases. The transition towards utilizing natural compounds reflects a broader shift toward sustainable livestock practices that address both productivity enhancements and critical environmental and health issues. This Research Topic aims to assemble pioneering research on the diverse array of natural compounds applicable in livestock environments. With a focus on microbial agents, herbal extracts, spices, and other organic materials, this collection explores their impact on boosting productivity, enhancing antioxidant capacity, and managing gut microbiology. Recent studies underscore the benefits of integrating specific natural compounds into animal feed, which notably boosts antioxidant levels, thereby enhancing animal health and resistance to oxidative stress. Additionally, the use of probiotics and prebiotics is gaining traction for improving gut health and nutrient uptake, crucial for overall livestock productivity and welfare. Moreover, some natural compounds have been shown to effectively reduce methane outputs from livestock, thus contributing significantly to environmental conservation efforts.
