The decay product of the medical isotope molybdenum 99 Mo 99 technetium 99m Tc 99m and associated medical isotopes iodine 131 I 131 and xenon 133 Xe 133 are used worldwide for medical diagnostic imaging or therapy The United States consumes about half of the world's supply of Mo 99 but there has been no domestic i.e. U.S. based production of this isotope since the late 1980s The United States imports Mo 99 for domestic use from Australia Canada Europe and South Africa Mo 99 and Tc 99m cannot be stockpiled for use because of their short half-lives Consequently they must be routinely produced and delivered to medical imaging centers Almost all Mo 99 for medical use is produced by irradiating highly enriched uranium HEU targets in research reactors several of which are over 50 years old and are approaching the end of their operating lives Unanticipated and extended shutdowns of some of these old reactors have resulted in severe Mo 99 supply shortages in the United States and other countries Some of these shortages have disrupted the delivery of medical care
