

CHAPTER REVIEW

- Explain the components of the era of convergence in human communication.

First, communication activities that once required several devices now need only one, as with the smartphone. Second, companies now both produce communication hardware and distribute media, as with Apple manufacturing the iPhone and distributing music via iTunes. Third, media have collapsed into a single medium, as with the online availability of TV shows and print news.

- Discuss the implications of the communication imperative.

As social beings, humans communicate as a natural part of everyday life. The communication imperative drives individuals to figure out the best ways to achieve their communication goals. From this perspective, you determine how you want to use technology in your communication with others, rather than technology making that decision for you.

- Identify and describe historical models of human communication.

Three traditional models of communication informed early understandings of the process. The mathematical or transmission model depicted communication as action—something people do. The interactive model added a critical dimension to the communication process—feedback. The Source-Message-Channel-Receiver (S-M-C-R) model provides a more detailed view of human communication and attempts to identify all the elements needed for communication to occur.

- Discuss the key components of the pervasive communication environment model and its implications for human communication.

The pervasive communication environment model depicts communication as convergence—the bringing together of elements that previously were separate. The smartphone provides
