Blue Drop Report 2009:

The GCRO Barometer 2014 Darlington Mushongera, 2015-04-24 The GCRO Barometer 2014 depicts developmental progress in the Gauteng City Region GCR in a single interactive graphic using 38 indicators across ten key sectors. It serves as a tracking and diagnostic tool to inform policy makers and the public on where development progress is being made and areas of concern. It also serves as a tool for benchmarking Gauteng against other South African provinces and similar sized city regions across the world. The GCRO Barometer 2014 is the first release and shows progress in 2012 against three base years 2002, 2007 and 2011. Overall the Barometer shows that the developmental outlook for Gauteng is positive with significant progress realised between 2002 and 2012 in nearly all sectors. For instance the poverty rate has fallen dramatically since 2002 and access to basic services has improved. However there are challenges in areas such as Social Cohesion, Governance, the Labour Market and Sustainability. Sadly people's perceptions of government as well as their unwillingness to participate in governance matters do not correspond to the achievements made by government during this period. This should be a cause for concern for policy makers in all spheres of government as it reflects dissatisfaction with the nature and quality of services being provided as well as the methods of provision. The Barometer also shows that the impact of government programmes is minimal. Over shorter time spans change between 2002 and 2012 is considerable but change between 2011 and 2012 is insignificant. This is a cause for concern given the 5 year cycle of electoral terms for local government in South Africa. The Barometer's outcomes underscore the need for government to step up policy and programme monitoring with a view to achieving immediate and positive short term impacts on communities.

Trans-jurisdictional Water Law and Governance Janice Gray, Cameron Holley, Rosemary Rayfuse, 2016-06-23 Governance of global water resources presents one of the most confounding challenges in contemporary natural resource governance. With considerable government, citizen and financial donor attention devoted to a range of international, transnational and domestic laws and policies aimed at protecting, managing and sustainably using fresh and coastal marine water resources, this book proposes that sustainable water outcomes require a trans-jurisdictional approach to water governance. Focusing on the concept of trans-jurisdictional water governance, the book diagnoses barriers and identifies pathways to coherent and coordinated institutional arrangements between and across different bodies of laws at local, national, regional and international levels. It includes case studies from the European Union, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the United States and Southeast Asia. Leading specialists offer insights into the pretence and the promise of trans-jurisdictional water governance and provide readers including students, practitioners, policy makers and academics with a basis for better analysing, articulating and synthesising standards of good trans-jurisdictional water governance both in theory and in practice.

Building a Capable State Ian Palmer, Nishendra Moodley, Susan Parnell, 2017-11-15 The sustainable development goals signed in 2016 marked a new phase in global development thinking, one which is focused on ecologically and fiscally sustainable human settlements Few countries offer a better testing ground for their attainment than post apartheid South Africa Since the coming to power of the African National Congress the country has undergone a policy making revolution driven by an urgent need to improve access to services for the country s black majority A quarter century on from the fall of apartheid Building a Capable State asks what lessons can be learned from the South African experience The book assesses whether the South African government has succeeded in improving service delivery focusing on the vital sectors of water and sanitation energy roads public transport and housing Emphasizing the often overlooked role of local government institutions and finance the book demonstrates that effective service delivery can have a profound impact on the social structure of emerging economies and must form an integral part of any future development strategy A comprehensive examination of urban service delivery in the global South Building a Capable State is essential reading for students and practitioners across the social sciences public finance and engineering sectors
