No lab manual chapters are associated with this lab. The background information for this week's lab is found in this "Need to Know" packet, your "Lab 9 Student Notes", "Thyroid Metabolism Packet", Lab Week 9 PPT and Lab Week 9 Video presentation. Background information on the "Theoretical Metabolism Wet Lab" is included in the information for this lab. You need to understand the experimental set-up in this theoretical lab experiment and be able to interpret the results from the sample data provided. You will be doing 2 Virtual Labs this week that cover both aerobic and anaerobic respiration. The theoretical wet lab and the virtual lab: endocrine system-effect of thyroid hormone on temperature regulation cover aerobic respiration. The virtual lab: cellular respiration- yeast fermentation covers anaerobic respiration.

(and APR Module 8: Endocrine (for review of thyroid hormone))

Connect's Virtual Labs. For this week's lab class, you will be doing 2 Virtual Labs.

1. Cellular Respiration: Yeast Fermentation
2. Endocrine: Influence of Thyroid Hormone on Temperature Regulation

Connect's PhILS 4.0 "Endocrine Function" simulated experiment #19, "Thyroid Function and Metabolic Rate." In your Connect course site then scroll to "Endocrine Function" and click on "19. Thyroid Function and Metabolic Rate." This experiment doesn't have you calculate the metabolic rate as in our mouse examples, but via a linear regression (so calculations are different than the examples with the traditional mouse in the canning jar experiment). This experiment, however, compares a normal rat and a hypothyroid rat in different temperatures. So now we can look at temperatures AND thyroid metabolism combined. *Ph.I.L.S. experiments are not worth points but done to help you learn the concepts.

Connect's PhILS 4.0 "Metabolism" simulated experiment #2, "Size and Metabolic Rate." This experiment compares a large rat with a small rat. *Ph.I.L.S. experiments are not worth points but done to help you learn the concepts.

Lab Week 10 IS LAB EXAM #2.
