Conference Nips:

Advances in Neural Information Processing Systems 13 Todd K. Leen, Thomas G. Dietterich, Volker Tresp, 2001 The proceedings of the 2000 Neural Information Processing Systems NIPS Conference The annual conference on Neural Information Processing Systems NIPS is the flagship conference on neural computation The conference is interdisciplinary with contributions in algorithms learning theory cognitive science neuroscience vision speech and signal processing reinforcement learning and control implementations and diverse applications Only about 30 percent of the papers submitted are accepted for presentation at NIPS so the quality is exceptionally high These proceedings contain all of the papers that were presented at the 2000 conference

Data Mining Mehmed Kantardzic, 2011-08-04 This book reviews state of the art methodologies and techniques for analyzing enormous quantities of raw data in high dimensional data spaces to extract new information for decision making The goal of this book is to provide a single introductory source organized in a systematic way in which we could direct the readers in analysis of large data sets through the explanation of basic concepts models and methodologies developed in recent decades If you are an instructor or professor and would like to obtain instructor s materials please visit <http://booksupport.wiley.com> If you are an instructor or professor and would like to obtain a solutions manual please send an email to pressbooks@ieee.org

Neural Networks and Deep Learning Charu C. Aggarwal, 2018-08-25 This book covers both classical and modern models in deep learning The primary focus is on the theory and algorithms of deep learning The theory and algorithms of neural networks are particularly important for understanding important concepts so that one can understand the important design concepts of neural architectures in different applications Why do neural networks work When do they work better than off the shelf machine learning models When is depth useful Why is training neural networks so hard What are the pitfalls The book is also rich in discussing different applications in order to give the practitioner a flavor of how neural architectures are designed for different types of problems Applications associated with many different areas like recommender systems machine translation image captioning image classification reinforcement learning based gaming and text analytics are covered The chapters of this book span three categories The basics of neural networks Many traditional machine learning models can be understood as special cases of neural networks An emphasis is placed in the first two chapters on understanding the relationship between traditional machine learning and neural networks Support vector machines linear logistic regression singular value decomposition matrix factorization and recommender systems are shown to be special cases of neural networks These methods are studied together with recent feature engineering methods like word2vec Fundamentals of neural networks A detailed discussion of training and regularization is provided in Chapters 3 and 4 Chapters 5 and 6 present radial basis function RBF networks and restricted Boltzmann machines Advanced topics in neural networks Chapters 7 and 8 discuss recurrent neural networks and convolutional neural networks Several advanced topics like deep reinforcement learning neural Turing machines Kohonen self organizing maps and generative adversarial networks are introduced in Chapters 9 and 10 The book is written for graduate students researchers and practitioners Numerous exercises are available along with a solution manual to aid in classroom teaching Where possible an application centric view is highlighted in order to provide an understanding of the practical uses of each class of techniques

Computer Vision Roberto Cipolla, Sebastiano Battiato, Giovanni Maria Farinella, 2010-05-11 Computer vision is the science and technology of making machines that see It is concerned with the theory design and implementation of algorithms that can automatically process visual data to recognize objects track and recover their shape and spatial layout The International Computer Vision Summer School ICVSS was established in 2007 to provide both an objective and clear overview and an in depth analysis of the state of the art research in Computer Vision The courses are delivered by world renowned experts in the field from both academia and industry and cover both theoretical and practical aspects of real Computer Vision problems The school is organized every year by University of Cambridge Computer Vision and Robotics Group and University of Catania Image Processing Lab Different topics are covered each year A summary of the past Computer Vision Summer Schools can be found at <http://www.dmi.unict.it/icvss> This edited volume contains a selection of articles covering some of the talks and tutorials held during the first two editions of the school on topics such as Recognition Registration and Reconstruction The chapters provide an in depth overview of these challenging areas with key references to the existing literature

Silicon Implementation of Pulse Coded Neural Networks Mona E. Zaghloul, Jack L. Meador, Robert W. Newcomb, 1994-03-31 When confronted with the hows and whys of nature s computational engines some prefer to focus upon neural function addressing issues of neural system behavior and its relation to natural intelligence Then there are those who prefer the study of the mechanics of neural systems the nuts and bolts of the wetware the neurons and synapses Those who investigate pulse coded implementations of artificial neural networks know what it means to stand at the boundary which lies between these two worlds not just asking why natural neural systems behave as they do but also how they achieve their marvelous feats The research results presented in this book not only address more conventional abstract notions of neural like processing but also the more specific details of neural like processors It has been established for some time that natural neural systems perform a great deal of information processing via electrochemical pulses Accordingly pulse coded neural network concepts are receiving increased attention in artificial neural network research This increased interest is compounded by continuing advances in the field of VLSI circuit design This is the first time in history in which it is practical to construct networks of neuron like circuits of reasonable complexity that can be applied to real problems We believe that the pioneering work in artificial neural systems presented in this book will lead to further advances that will not only be useful in some practical sense but may also provide some additional insight into the operation of their natural counterparts

Optical Engineering ,1994 Publishes papers reporting on research and development in optical science and engineering and the practical applications of known optical science engineering and technology
