A Reader-study Guide for Cosmos, Carl Sagan Ann Elwood, 1980 Laser Video Guide ,1997 The complete laser disc catalog movies music and special interest including karaoke and animation TV Guide ,2001 Unbelievable Michael Newton Keas, 2019-01-08 Unbelievable explodes seven of the most popular and pernicious myths about science and religion Michael Newton Keas a historian of science lays out the facts to show how far the conventional wisdom departs from reality He also shows how these myths have proliferated over the past four centuries and exert so much influence today infiltrating science textbooks and popular culture The seven myths Keas shows amount to little more than religion bashing especially Christianity bashing Unbelievable reveals Why the Dark Ages never happened Why we didn't need Christopher Columbus to prove the earth was round Why Copernicus would be shocked to learn that he supposedly demoted humans from the center of the universe What everyone gets wrong about Galileo's clash with the Church and why it matters today Why the vastness of the universe does not deal a blow to religious belief in human significance How the popular account of Giordano Bruno as a martyr for science ignores the fact that he was executed for theological reasons not scientific ones How a new myth is being positioned to replace religion a futuristic myth that sounds scientific but isn't In debunking these myths Keas shows that the real history is much more interesting than the common narrative of religion at war with science This accessible and entertaining book offers an invaluable resource to students scholars teachers homeschoolers and religious believers tired of being portrayed as anti intellectual and anti science Science on American Television Marcel Chotkowski, 2024-05-31 As television emerged as a major cultural and economic force many imagined that the medium would enhance civic education for topics like science And indeed television soon offered a breathtaking banquet of scientific images and ideas both factual and fictional Mr Wizard performed experiments with milk bottles Viewers watched live coverage of solar eclipses and atomic bomb blasts Television cameras followed astronauts to the moon Carl Sagan through the Cosmos and Jane Goodall into the jungle Via electrons and embryos blood testing and blasting caps fictional Frankensteins and chatty Nobel laureates television opened windows onto the world of science But what promised to be a wonderful way of presenting science to huge audiences turned out to be a disappointment argues historian Marcel Chotkowski LaFollette in Science on American Television LaFollette narrates the history of science on television from the 1940s to the turn of the twenty first century to demonstrate how disagreements between scientists and television executives inhibited the medium's potential to engage in meaningful science education In addition to examining the content of shows she also explores audience and advertiser responses the role of news in engaging the public in science and the making of scientific celebrities Lively and provocative Science on American Television establishes a new approach to grappling with the popularization of science in the television age when the medium's ubiquity and influence shaped how science was presented and the scientific community had increasingly less control over what appeared on the air An Exploration of Space 1999 Through the Lens of Fan
